If it's not an eye for an eye, it's an eye for a look, a tongue for a word, and a tooth for a snarl. Be warned, this earth is of failed trespassers and lookalikes beyond it. Do not go where the world doesn't want you, leave nothing behind that isn't meant for a destiny. Traipsing lunatics leave feathering backwater bottoms, only a devil in the back door can save you from tomorrows home stead. Take on Christ, for all blessings are better than no curses. Take on my name JD Mac, if the Irish wish is the key to your safety. Christ will save ye from death, but I will save you from a bastard's life for your sons. Else string me up as a monolith in the desert like the snakes of Moses, and remember whether truth be for soothe-sayers, or lies be for forgotten tales.

For the lord hath said be you to be judged by the tribe with or without work of reference. I say be I to be seen of each a topness aboveness and beyond it.

For christ is like the golden serpent to save the sick, instead it is for honest folk to whom believe what is too good to be true. And yet whilst it is, it maketh scripture to which to against be'th blasphemy.

Then I give you eternal as such. Albeit a false memory made to seem true. The lake of fire be to burn in anger and anguish where death and hades be judged and thrown into it, death itself be anguish and hades itself be anger, whereby hades be torturous of from hate. Thus all judgements have been. As already made. Thus we know of truth and liar that those who win are found of themselves virtue.

For today we create a new newness of a religion and bestowings of thou and wilt that to have a de ja vu is either to lie or to live again. And we speak similarly.

Thus we each pray:
May I owe no one except a word.
May I pay no one except with words.
May I own nothing except for within hands
May I take all except wanted
May I fear nothing but how greatly feared I am

Thus I am of thee that words spoken build bridges, while walking over them shatters paths.

The Lord God of all anger creates from his rage only one life that may achieve peace during, which is mine eternal from now.

The man who has no hands need only his feet. The man who has no arms need only his head. The men who have no legs do not stand again nor up for much. For today cometh language And so extensors on the right made three Babal (aha lamb eeya lamb eye eye ee ya) “For I have discovered my father was once a child of course.” (pronounced mbabamb).

In the beg that began the begging one man asked for his desired to be for once and always his. The Lord God Above all else made an appearance to his minds eye of dreaming and so signed her away as his betrothed so long as he keeps to such laws. And the laws were such that he had desired of them that all of violence be removed In that his causes for anger would cease. And then it was her who was angry at him for not imposing a strong arm of justice back. But it was such to him that the Lord had promised to kill all who would find anger alike at these means. So he was charged with woulding and them of causing her ultimate primacy of jealousy and envy that the would have a promise made by mother and mammon, such that he would pay her debts. In by asking for her mothers number to pay her 1/3rd of his income against her house, and 1/3rd the remainder against her power, and as the costs were bearing of accostings she know he had been accounted for so as to keep an account. And then it was such as the miracle of his eternal lives.

For then there was seen to look to herself for guidance as to how she might know if ever she had found “the one” as all women dream of, and so appears the signs as the signs from above of below as below writ thee. First where art thou, second, where art I, third how might we bethurist, yes and see against my mothers wilt. And so thus appeareth a sign as if from nothing but the primacy of continuing to make after making mistakes. Such that below and repressed of chosen not seen but shape without form nor pro forma for another presentation. Slide back left to right and fold. See it as py-rammid-deel.

Now what on earth or elsewhere is pye-rammid-eal. It is of the snake who ate itself before eating the fruit to return and tempt that disobedience their first shared love that they share the limits of each other upon the each of each each other.

For the lord of all mammon has said in psalms 120 and 121 he wishes for deliverance from deceitful tongues, and he who keeps them doesn't slander while he who keeps Israel neither sleeps nor slumbers. Therefore we kill liars in their sleep neither sun by day, nor moon by night, so strike at night. Who is left to remain against I except thee a liar who trembles in fear. Then it is in the name of god that I may kill an unfaithful witness for God seeks us for faith, hope, and love, so we remove those strongly against such.

More than enough scorn of those at ease (doing naught) of the contempt of the proud (friend of pride), me and my two are made free, by the Lord's Grace.

As for with money begins entreatments for without begins demands for wishing bears hopefulness for trusting bears faith for witnessing bears faithfulness for honesty bears sacrifice for truth bears punishment for desiring bears you.

A dollar is worth more to be in another's hand that you may steal it from them and pay it back to begin again. For I am not here for treasures nor abundance, but eternal peace from lies assunder assaultry swallow says nought but ought.

Now today I bring wisdom from ages goneby or ages to come. Between men of liars must discuss in truth else not be organised thus we see truth tellers triumph through their organisings, whereas liars lie to accuse or when accused and from/or nought but what else.

As the lamb stands crucified his scripture is a reminder that truth is only who's side you're on for to lie is the low'st of temptations, not discussed in biblical senses for else be accused thereof. As in part as in whole as in all or nothing to be named a liar. Liars so good be called honest, for honestly how may we beat that and defeat his simplicity.

Nothing greater than to ignore name-calling.

For a new idea in the present bears the power to rewrite the past. Thus it is remembered by all that money be older than history, and yet I remember it as the game of conquering my sole with, to claim all and return sole male victor over all women as is how we meet day by day night by night hour for hours.

Their be known as re-per-flexy or catalopsii (death on it's side one of many). What is better than best seller, but brand new or limited edition or falasity explico, let none know that before none be seen and after none be alike, for my writing is such as scriptural as liars have found to keep children honest.

And so it is, to ignore name-calling when they call me a liar I say “fair enough”, when they use any word I say “if that's what you think”/ Thus I ignore the greatest battle since christ as to who was it that told the greater truth?

Thus it is that the one who leads the leading liars is named honest and the one against him calls him a liar while he himself is found to be one.

Now christ remain as an idol for those mixed up between truth and lie, lie and honesty, miracles and witnessing. For he stands as testament to those who would tell the truth that it is greater than any lie.

And yet most people wish not to hear more of it again. But his word be the standing ruler of how men are to be judged in this present modern day times. And so I know that my word be like those who knew to keep his story on the surface and who know how to judge that my word bears more strength than Christ's through Christ. For I say it is only when you have two men and you know nothing else about them that they are equal, but of what you know it shapes how you know to best judge them. And if ye no'st to judge then ye jury, and if ye no'st to jury then be executed or executioner of ye own laws. And how be it to judge a man except by the eyes of another man. And from me I say put him to death, an eye for a look a tongue for a truth, and a tooth for a snarl. But by taking on Christ and forgiving early you quickly notice that men of all kinds are always at face for war and ready to stand up for nothing but to gain one above you. Whereas to forfeit for all except to stand up for the broken is the only way I have not been lost. For it is such to stand up for others until you may stand up for yourself or to stand up for yourself until ye may attack, or to strike first until ye may win, except that others stand up for others and crown me a sole victor of nought but those who would seek to strike first first, and foremostly, that those who fight often and common may see the way through the one who seeks to not fight. Such that they only pick a fight with the ones who give up that they may only claim a victory instead of slain. And it is by such that I know they wish not to fight also, lest they seek not to over so little.

“what are you looking at” be “nothing” to which “well stop staring” be its end unless you wish to fight. At which point to give them a false victory I will to it that they give in as such except not that I truly fight to kill and to kill all who would fight to kill, and so kill my own and my all. Thus I know of ye to see me as a danger thumb needed to be kept separate from all men else danger approaches from my back-handedness to wish death upon those who would wish death upon those.

So who are ye to promise to God not to disobey right before his first disobedience, And see God to find him of most virtue as to convert the lost from their own way home. So what is of history except that it's rightness goes to the keeper and to bowl him 3 strikes out is better than the catch to make it and so the bowler does he bowl to strike or to be struck, and of me to seek defeat or to seek it and be not yet of meet. Thus in those that know me who knows of a strategy to take mine own on except that it be yours. For mine own strategy be not taught except to seek defeat and see that you do not find it. And thus you may proclaim me as sole victor over Christ's covenant while the others seek lies as protection. Behold I say the old testament commands are what we kill in ourselves before we kill in others, and the new testament commands are what we forgive in others before we forgive in ourselves. And string me up to dance like christ except over truth or lie, that you may cross my path if you darest.

For it is not the birthright of any men to take on and replace all men's birthrights and as such no man who seeks to kill for any reason except to remove the desire to kill, even from himself, that it be ought for him to kill none and yet many to die by his hand, or his hands away with words that you know of whom I speak. Thus that you say little now and speak even less tomorrow else he not be put to reset as the one who finalises upon every act with it as a command you must disobey to find freedom from. As the lord said, take on Christ's forgiveness or seek to kill and be slain.

Thus a spiritual life is the holy one to not die is death and to live fully a lie upon a lie. For it is said “Amen” for it is given as “right by my (a) men.” That my men is a man's men, that we all give our men up to seeking for demands met over christ or breakfast. Thus it is with my prayers that you see me as my Amen, in that I answer my own prayers by telling ye what I would wish for ye that you may seek it of yourselves.

Nothing stands to be claimed but a greater victory than the one over death of christs or the one over eternal life which is to have slain him before he stands. And so I travel through death to find an all encompassing victory which is that to be named “prince of speech” that he who take me be king.

For it is such that a hypothesis was given to say “if all could be but a suggestion then I would suggest all that you may take your freedom from and call it hypothetical”, and I would to place this as a parenthetical before after and between all words of all suggestions that with me you hear nothing but your own hypothetical shown back next to what lacks it. That yourself as you are wished to be with me as you are now and so it shall be a hypothetical in nature and tongue.

So it seems that you seek more than just your own glory, and you find more than just your own problems, that ye have solved the problem of speech and said all you have wished to say, that nothing left be said except to say of what else is broken or to be made broken over. So it is that you are after a peace of what parses to you your understandings that you may be freed from it and your burden of honesty and your sacrifice towards creativity that you see all as all as all can be is made all by all being all and you find freedom as the birds talk you their way which is mine as it was kept, for ye, from ye, by ye, to me. Amen?

Nothing is left to be sought except for where all ends must meet, except that the beginning of the fires burns out the flame. The story is often lost before beginning because of the ways that have been found. And so it seems all are looking for the perfect story and miss the perfectly misaligned story and miss out on their own story and not a fanciful collectives collection.

So we've all been given stories too good to be true, that we might be permitted to more evil if we can forgoe more at loss. I don't want to hear it if you've heard it before or I have or it's neither of ours. If it is made as it was made then it shall be made as it will be to is.

If someone were to stare at themselves in the mirror for long enough, would they ought to fall in love or out of love? Is vanity vanity or is it just what we painted as all as all could be? And so killed the mockingbird before he could chirp, before he was a twerp, before before before.

So it is that scripture was given us as a pattern that we might see it but then to see through the pattern when it came back from another to bite their children of fame. “Every man and every women could play many paths in many different ways” - Shakespeare. But every man was after every woman after every man but each for each and lost for nought.

The beyonder birthed the beyondus who was named after shane who was called shawn that he slept where he ate and fell face first into the mud of makeup of mine mind. And who could know it but I e I e io. Beauty speaks louder than wise guys preach. And wise men preach perfection into lonely girls tears, that they don't know themselves after all these years.

So this ought to be published in a book they all said, and yet I never ought myself to the written word, but a heart song for a love life not worth the memories I keep of her. As I have done nothing but see her forsake me, and yet I chase. I have run the streets rampant to find her longing for more from others except to seek me and be fulfilled. For fulfillment lies in the endlessly fulfilling, and what else could be endlessly fulfilling than limitless demand for singularly finite supply to which there is none alike and for her it was and became her forbidden fruit, an illustrious pleasure she could not but know. And so I draw her arch nemesis, Mr Square-faced triangle star.

And so what she doesn't know she said wouldn't hurt her and yet all she refused to hear was the truth, like a thing of beauty she thought age or wear could take it from her except that it was her foe guiding her guise for her makeup eyes that only she might know her own perfection, for what else would she know but how she felt to express herself honestly alone to herself where none could touch her but in her sorrows. For truth hurts darling and I am neither. I am neither truth nor pain, but with a simple request I can bring either to your door, would you rather it I bring the pain or my truth doest for it is my truth you know to be my bedrock and rock your bed my every second wish, while my first wish is answered in you being you here with me now. What would you rather: the life of mine where I'll say the words I wright ought for books by the dozen, or yours with the time of writ I can foremostly to have. And yes indeed it is that all I crave is more and more time care and attention from women of all creatures and mine met with desire at first glance, be it you or and alone or both of us together, I crave you as though it's a part of me that does it. And I cannot be without my wanting for more as more is just a morsel and less is best for cravings for more and more again. So what is it, for more or for a morsel. Is it wrong for a working girl to kiss my cheek?

And so it seems when a girl asks you to keep writing about her she is asking you to stop in the next moment thus this will be a book called "i'm the lowly ghost" blurb reads "once they were wankers, then they were creeps, now they are stalkers and we ghost them like sheep. And it shall say "a daring venture against sex drugs rock and roll," "indeed it was love peace and more for the lovelies."

Yes and my mistress may peg me up and whip me if I could do the same back and then you see I grant my own consent and so it was "sex is the best drug, rock and roll the best sex." but now it's "sex without anger, drugs without dealing, rock and roll without history."

Because my music is spontaneous, and my sex must be demanded like a McDonalds order and my drugs supplied by/for the sexy and the rock and roll is for our stories not the iconic histories treasures.

So. People go back to rhymes until it becomes repetition. So I shall sing again: this is what your music says to me is what you've got of someone else to show me, this is what you've got to tell me about yourself, this is what your proud of yeah, you're proud of someone else's music tastes, because if it's not classic in the years or popular since you never heard it so you never missed. And then y'all be playing on y'all's phones like the phoney children fighting over raised voices and it happens till you take out the talking stock and take turns with who to listen to.

People know me for who I am, I go deep into thought at a moment's glance, like I'm daydreaming while everyone else is sleep walking. I can judge when they arrive if they are clapping my vibe, in fact the words we use are a picadilly a punch. For I found a map where tigris and euphrates met to hide the garden of eden. As the flaming sword was that words on fire burnings, raising anger upon anger until death words that burn your truth with mine own. Or education – emergency department union. 3 reservoirs kept at equal level, flowing around and back into the centre between them, such that the ground is made wettened for good.

Ignorance is only bliss if you are blissfully ignorant of the truth, ignorance is never bliss when even the truths you don't know still hurts you. And you ignoring the truth is more blissful than to attain it's power and knowing the truth is better than to accuse an honest person of being a liar. If all truth did was hurt us there'd be no freedom worth fighting for, instead the truths that hurt are the ones we kept from ourselves of how we had last. It's better knowing the truth than to live in fear of ourselves. The truth hurts you the most when it's your lies compared to it, particularly the lie that the truth is better not known. We are told it is bliss to be ignorant to prepare us for the worst, except that the ignorant not know their bliss nor their ignorance. For how satisfied would you be knowing the truths to everything regarding how to get out of the situation you are in. And it is better not to teach them the lesson where they only learn the hard way, lest they learn it and not remain ignorant, which is our bliss, that the ignorant fight over ignorance. There are many great and wise sayings coming from scripture and yet all may I triumph over of my own right having lived above the feet on which I stand to understand all walks of life. Where it says love your enemies, I say love the enemy of your enemies, love their detractors, and their dishonourable or when it says love your neighbour, love that they are neighbourly or good neighbours or that they support you in their neighbourhood. For where the streets call it "the hood" they make mention of their neighbours. Such that loving thy neighbour ought to be done y the hoods way of loving them, in that they are supporting neighbourliness of each other.

For it is said that Christ was baptised by John, and yet of men, no man was seen lower than he, as such why he was the baptiser as if to say he could have drowned the Christ but didn't and so the dove appeared like land found by Noah. And the truth will truly set you free in that knowing truth is knowing what you are shackled by that your unruly truths may break ye from ye chains. For what else truth be good for but freedom and freedom from truth's pains.

For as it happens every new spirit I come into contact with is a new potential spirit that can be mixed into the waters of the others spirits, in that all continue to proliferate because I have yet to kill another being and get away with it. By having submitted to christ I have my brothers in Christ who surround me as the police to restrain me at every wits end. But they know that they must apprehend and suspect everything they can, anything outside of their power is contrary to their aims. Even if it was pure and natural freedom for the sake of peace and quiet. Once upon a time there were only hundreds of people, but after enough words shared that were attacking the truths of the neighbour, there were more rising up in their wake. But me bringing out the truths of my neighbour is not an attack, in that it may reveal a weakness, but it is so that you might know it for yourselves and prevent it for yourselves. And then when you do, I continue to get lost in how there are so many of these spirits surrounding me. And darkness falls as I wade into these waters and we know that what I truly fear is to be outnumbered. And like grains of sand on the beach to add but one would be worth nothing to the oceans below it. And yet we don't think of oceans as below the beach, and but they are. And we don't think of neighbours as competing with us for our grains of sand on the beach. And we don't and we don't and we don't. So why is it that my first wish in primacy is to seek one and only one above all and regardless of all others, and to do so in a way of disregarding all others and to regard them less and to wish to throw them all away in sight of the one. In that the light of one may be so bright to dim out all other lights. And that there is the secret of the light. The sun in the sky is my elect held so far away from me, my mind's eye reflection of her, and the mirror the reflection of that within another mind's eye.

And so you see, as I renounce my own virtue by being honest with myself, but as an open book, to be studied for years gone past. In times where none wish to study of books, and none more-so for years to go by. But how might I get my peace? How peace? My peace? I need her and her alone, and only then will I find peace. Inner peace is one thing, outer peace is a whole world away. And most don't even know that. They go along in search of themselves. In not realising the weakness I see in them I see more-so in myself, for the eye to see the weakness can inspect itself much closer than the eye to witness the weakness being spotted. PEACE? I need her badly beyond it all, and she cannot express it enough to me to have remained silent thus far. As though I am headed in precisely the wrong direction. I am supposed to be stealthy and malicious, and precisely attacking the enemies before they arise. And yet I am here, appearing weak and without name. And yet here I am writing my words, saying that as I bear my testament enough and to the point, they will get it and go their own ways home, away from where we two stand together, free, and freely made.

And therus standeth my proclamaiton to all. And to seek to continue after delivering such a finite piece? Well, whereth endeth my peace? To where do you drive yourselves each day, to why do you work yourselves to death, why do you dream of greater and not witness death yourselves, for I have gone beyond it and so remain here. Whereas you remain here to remain here, and seek to not go beyond it, but I have proof of going beyond it which are my words in testament. For slaying every demon where he stands as soon as he arises. The first man in the crowd I turned the crowd against him, and in support of me, and that shadow never left my soul. I have been a mark on the daylight of happiness as it spreads throughout the day, and witness a very slither of a shade of being outside of what is ordinary for common folk. That how could I have written such a thing and continue to write, and yet my spoils are so few, and my spoilings myself made only. For I have spoilt my day, without being spoiled, or vice versa if it means I am ruined and I have forsaken all my blessings.

For every day that I am blessed with a cigarette, I smoke it, for every day that I am blessed with spare change I spend it, or for what I was not expecting to use for myself, I give away. And yet the father of providence rules over the victory spoils of storehouses in an abundance of treasures left for kings and his princes and their cousins. For when a king passes the rule of reason is for a new king to be appointed, or for a judge to be made ruler. And such it is that a judge rules by daylight, whereas a king stands with a shadow as his back is covered in darkness, thus a king is a greater ruler of the people as the leadership class may call in a killing, whereas the judges must remain honest, unless they act in the shadow with a light in the darkness that bows their shade towards him, in that they offer dark services with the privacy of not being seen in the daylight as the judge is ruled by.

Thus I say, the lands that have prime ministers and presidents and premiers and the like, are not worshipped like that of God's and kings. Whereby before we had kings there was once a God, who was worshipped by his people, and I too am to reclaim that throne, before death, in the dying of those who pass from my previous paragraphs, as they hand themselves over wishing for death, as euthanasia is allowed for all ages such that we can quickly absolve our blood of the sadness beyond ages, only those who are beyond happy may remain on our soil as we see that the sad things of this world are the problems we bring upon ourselves of our own accord. And so, to act accordingly with our own accord, we must know of all things created by man, each man may judge according to the judgements of the many men surrounding. And so it is that each who judge that certain things be wrong in our culture and they fight over it being kept as wrong, do not realise the ones who commit the worst wrongs are the ones who keep the lid on what is the limit of evil such that we remain in strength as a people who may be given the rights of free will to judge for themselves, even if the scripture says to not judge else ye be judged for with what judgements you judge you shall be judged. The one's who truly do not judge, see that judgements are made according to the will of what the many ought to do as a group, and so reserve judgement. And yes I said it here and you'll see it again as for those who put their swords in the circle for the right to fight over it, I said it here and you'll see it again, those who do not judge simply reserve judgement. They hold it back as the last thing to say, as so to be speechless at long last of things ought and things done.

And so it is that this book was named miammo, to say "my ammo" or "my armaments" or "my weapons" or "words I could say, that best be written to say 'this is of the possible from me so that ye know what I could bring upon you from myself', but it is not from me, nor it is mine, nor are they my words." For the words I could say are simply words chosen out of the patterns of language capable to be said as we each see the language given to us by our forebears as inheritance of the only true way of wisdom outside of the fist, the tooth, or the sword. Where the difference between fist tooth and sword here are, striking to win, striking to hurt, striking to injure. In that hurt and injure is the will to cause pain vs the will to leave a lasting pain. In respect of themselves in each.

Now it is that miammo is to speak firstly of my weapons against myself. Secondly my weapons of aboveness and beyonders that are my princes of prayerfulness. As I am the prince of speech I must say that to pray in tongues the most powerful of all truth-tellings. Learn to speak without rule, according to the ruler, without the know how of what you wish to say. That is to make sounds for the sake of the sounds, and to speak effortlessly from the heart, be it not ascribed to any sole language, and be it akin to all forms of language having heard. For example, a piece on this in this way: pisa si casso a la cassi si casonis assa la cissa dié alla li ano. Which is: my perfect pretty picture speaks and changes and the changing says to take charge and to have the charges made as though it is finished. Which I finish on "it is finished" so as to say, I know when my mixed up language has reached it's end and needs to be tied in to something more meaningful, and, I know when my mixed up language needs to reach an ending of from before.

And now you see that I am the rightful beginner to which has begun saith "of from" as in "of from before" and "of from what we know", in that "of from" be not said before likened to such as be. In that I know what makes my language scriptural is to bring in a new way of speaking as though the truth is best unkept, or the truths that are better are the ones we do not yet know. And there are many small slights of language that I bring about and have brought about that allow for such things to be said, and yet most are hesitant to follow because of the uprightness of the speech in-patterned into having it said so.

You may notice that the way I introduce a sentence or paragraph is with words that once have been used enough are no longer necessary to say, they say themselves until they are no longer needed to be said at all, and so you see that that much of which I say is going in like this way to be said so as never having to be re-said, only to be drawn upon as from a book, as with words here and now.

And much of what I say it seems as though nothing has been said until the saying begins and ends in a finished piece and it is noticed that the introduction to the sentence was indeed needed to be said in such a way.

Now it is that I must say that words of a book of faith are able to be changed by faith alone, which means as the livingness of the faithful with the faithful so is that the faith keeps it, for it is only by faith that we know of anything at all. For with those who a skeptical or doubt much, it leads unto self-doubt, and so doubting themselves they doubt even what they see and so see nothing at all and become blind. For blindingness is a thing of faith, for it is not seeing but believing that we give witness to, and so it is that when another tells ye that you do not see what you saw with your own eyes, and you give way to doubt, then you do not get to see it at all. And except for mine, I see miracles of everchangingness surrounding the very edges of which I see, in that the things hidden from me may change completely and entirely before I come back even in a moment to witness it. For no two moments are alike, and no two likenesses differ with less difference than of which we may see at all.

And so it is that with the words I write, much of it may be seen as though it can only be said in such a way as I having been said such, and yet the rest of which I say is like this, and it is only of when I seek to write for those to read, that I write for an eternity in advance of mine, an eternity before mine, and an eternity without mine. For what is eternity but infinite time, and yet the two inherently differ, as does forever and evermore. For eternity is to retake every chance again and again until perfected, the land in which we lay, and infinite time is a prison to which one cannot escape less to escape their prison of eternity, and forever is an infinite amount of time given towards ye and ye wishes of which now beginnest, and evermore is where there is always more to come and more to surprise

one. In that my eternal life has been lived before me that my memories come back to me to tell me of when I have returned to fight the final battle of when I had last been in such a position to make a choice in which I cannot remember the choice to which I am even making else it not be a choice at all and an entirely different path to make. And so it is that I giveth myself up to guilt that I regretted once and wished to change it, to find one thing as the worst thing I had done, whether it be by my own self's will, or by another's will, and taken up completely by this guilt and being the first time in a crowd having been given witness as to one of many in a crowd as one of many must be given way in a crowd, as the leader spoke to take out your guilt and to surrender to christ, and so it is that I surrendered the guilt of having lustrous desires met with my sister after having found myself to first have lustrous desires for a girl at school, and this was my guilt, of feeling like I had cheated on myself with her against the one I loved most. And so I was crucified to myself and bore everything to that teaching and denied myself everything in the name of love for her, and still now I bear that shame. Whereby I felt guilty only once by her name, and everything slain thereafter is shame, whereby I had arrived at this place after twice denying her requests for me to not come to where she wished to go, which I now know as being the place she wanted to go without me for me, and yet was also the place we went many times with me expecting to meet her there, and so it was that she knew me to be waiting, and wanting to see her, that she knew I knew her call for me to not come as a dare or a test, to see if she as woman ought to be obeyed, to which I had initially thought, "what, she say worth me dont?" In that what she says of me to not come where she had just told me she would be, is that worth me obeying her and denying my own will. No. No man ought to obey when he knows better for his woman, and it was better that we be together as soon as possible for as long as possible, for ever. And since she has promised me such: "I will always be here to listen to what you have to say." Which is how I know she had been won over towards the ability for me to go further unto giving commands to her from her having tried to command me to not meet her this fateful day. And so my guilt unto her be born until I meet her next, and to have not met with her for years is taxing on my heart, but because it was of christ's forgiveness, I knew the old law was forgiven from, and the old law is what I wish to promise to my woman as the threat of "I will kill for you, and I will honour your parents over my own, I will respect your God when with your people, and I will kill anyone who gets close to you, and kill anyone who steals from you. In that, by God, if I dedicate my misdeeds to love, then misdeeds unto me be ways forgiven by, and solely may I claim her love from her own sake." And yet too I, crucifying her lovers of my own love, I had yet to claim her love, so I had yet to claim the right to crucify her loves by her, which she would wish to claim, if I dedicate my life to killing for her name. In that the Old God's are those of man married to a woman, and the New God's are those of man married to the surrounding groups of men. And my God-sake, is given as the standing of "I be crucified else to take on my name JD Mac, with the luck of the Irish (who run the police), to dispel against liars, lies, sinners, and sin." For Christ bears forgiveness of sinners from their sins, and yet I bear forsaking sin by the sinner. In that even Christ did not follow his golden rules as much as I do. And I do, is said as a marriage to them, even though: neighbours needeth be neighbourly, and enemies needeth be their own enemy, and men needeth be known. For to love thine father is to remain guilt free by his word, and mine father is to be founded upon lies, or to bear confusion whenever accusation approach, to untwiddle the thumb of word from thatwhich brings it into accusational, for if he were to say "I never help people" and I were to say "how can you not help people" he would say "I may not help them, but I try to do the best for them." And so he is always admonishing himself unto the guilt of being the worst and lest not standeth up to accusation. For the accuser's tongue is that of which cannot stand up to judgement. For the judger stands alive after accusations have been made and stands to see whether the accusations have found their heart-knot, and yet judger is not a word but the judge is the word by which he is to be judged. In that there are no judger's there are only judges, and no judge be judge, except he be the judge, and sins of love be lesser than sins of apathy or sins of hate. To be too loving is to not know your own lovers love. And so I wish to know her well as though she wishes for me to love as though loving mine own in truth, and so loving mine own, father-to-daughter is where I keep her, and mother-to-son is where I triumph and take her as father again. For my mother cryeth only to me, in that she have no man to be that of assurity by her, in the strength of willing to say what is threatening, to say what she must say not to say, to say what she can only to say against, to say everything of killing and threats against those whomever I wilt. Whomever I wilt, albeit willingness.

Now I must say that to bless another is to curse yourself, if the man who is most aggressing of me now stands to claim testament, then he would say always to claim the last word, to threaten to rob me of my stuff and to always one up me with a threat upon my head, every request to him goes by the wayside, and every of his ought to go by as answered as demanded. He knows he is on his own, and stands to threaten even without angers rising, and so it is that I curse his name to be of missing teeth in that the first tooth he loses will be with the last teeth to go, they will all be taken out in one go, and it will happen before he is the age of witnessing (30) and he will give only witness to say what happened to him was "that he bit off more than he could chew." And so it is that men who lose their teeth lose them for fighting tooth over tooth for an eye for an eye, and men who get them all gone in one fell swoop lose them by them all being pulled in one go. And then they always remember it and recall it because the pains are so great of it happening. And then it is that I say in the beginnings of this book, it is an eye for a look and a tooth for a snarl, I swim with sorrow boys who knew not the wisdom of their ages was to be one day crippled of old age if it was good and to not be able to stand to fight any longer, and so to always must needs be found to only do right by men, in that men who have had a problem with them only had a problem because of their own problems, and so each time a problem arose they resolved it such that they were increasingly welcomed by their neighbours in that they had their problems resolved and so also their cause for problems.

Now I must say that to ask of God a blessing is to test your own faith with him, and his faith with ye, in that with each ask you must ask the least first most important need. In that you must only have one final and prominent prayer remaining, or many recurring prayers to pray with him by your side, in that the relationship is to grow by which you must say to yourself "if I only had one prayer that I could ask of God, then it would be such" and to also say to yourself "if God be-est the most fearsome God and yet he would let me ask of him, then I would only ought myself to ask of this". And so set it up for yourself that he can only answer your prayers or answer more than just your prayers. In that eventually everything be fulfilled with love and extra. For God be an all powerful God and he need not waste his time with those who know not how to ask of him, for when you enter into Christ's kingdom of asking of what ye seek and seeking of which ye to findeth, that you reserve all action in the kingdom with regards to things until you have searched under every rock the ought of what is meant for ye to find about his kingdom. In that you know the Old God's the New God's the 4 gospels, the meaning even of the pronounciation soundings of the names of the gospels, in that we have a welcome mat, we have a mark on your head, we have a look towards your face of doingness, and we have a yes ye be the average john johnsonson, with nothing left to offer but your welcoming to the next, to mark the truth upon their face, to look towards their having happened, and to throw them back into the water as another fish to be fished of unlike a fisher of men to bringeth fishers of men.

And so it is that I say, when christ said I will maketh for ye fishers of men, I say it is that he was saying “ye will gaff them with a hook in the cheek that ye may sit and take your leave until the fish come to you and each man you find is the man you've caught to have eaten.” And yet it was at this time that fishermen became using nets for fishing, and so they wished to harvest fish by the many, compared to the fisher who had ought been using a line, in that one thread catches one if perhaps maybe if a one, and many threads intertwined and strengthened by each other that they could catch many fishes and more, in that they could begin to dredge the besidings of Israel, in the shallow lands they could let nets with rocks tied to the bottoms, and sail into shore to drag the net along the sea floor, and capture as many fish as they could have. And this is how Christ first welcomed the fishermen, in that he took up all their time as they welcomed him, and then showed them how the nets were to be used by him. You see, this is not of scripture, nor of commentary, but you see that it is likely to be ought that it must be inspiration from God that I know it that ye can say “yeah right, as if that's what it was about and saying.” In that you can question whether it be true what I say, but you cannot question whether I know it to be true, because of the whichness of having said as. And to say and to say as, is to say what you wish to know of deeper, in that I say it because I have pictured how it might have happened that they catch more fish than ever, in that I know how netting fish by the shoreline be, in that I know this book cometh from the dream-time-scape from behindeth my knowledge before it cometh from man or from history. For history does not exist without a man to speak for it. And so all weighs in the balance of me as a man wishing for only my 1 sole woman and none other to live, in that I stand as 1 of many and 1 of 1 and 1 of many and 1 of 1, in that only I can stand as representative of the whole of humanity in a single sole person after the Old and the New God's and to know them greater than any and to call into question what they be'th be for.

One of one and one of many; one of many and one of one. For no kind was given except to be likethed unto mine own kind. And after the wars of public perception begin about my name and this book, the wars will heaten and my words will correct it, and they will heaten, and my words will correct it, and they will heaten, and then my neighbour's will correct it and then they will be the one's to begin the standing of aside of those who wish to be called unto my name. And to be called unto my name they must, on stage of a Sunday night at 6:56 beginning until 6:06 ending, they must douse themselves in petrol and stand in between 12 candles in a ring, each unalight. And for spontaneous combustion to not be the cause, be it tantamount to be testament against lies, liars, sinners, and sin, that after the 6th minute water drops from above to wash off the petrol, and for the remaining 5 minutes flour and feathers be dropped, that the one being doused scrubs themselves of all adorning flour and feathers that the makeshift napalm (as it is becometh) be taken and thrown outside the 12 candles, one by one from the one facing the crowd, going aroundeth by the leftest, or anti-clockwise for the doused, that it be madeviewing clock-wise for the crowd of watchers. This all be done to represent, as ye would with symbols know that of which each it may represent or speculated and agreed it may represent or each to yourselves it represent, it all be done to represent the same as a drowning except causeth by thine own hand and watched by many who could bringeth a flame, and for water and flour and feathers to drop, so that the only thing to stop the fire be carbon dioxide, or the end of the burning, smoke madeth of ashes as to ash.

And so it is I say bringeth daylight come, cometh bring us day of days, night of nights, and night of day of days of night of nights. For the 6th will be the 6th as the 6th was to the 6th.

And so it is that this I indeed leave unto ye, that this here device used to bringeth these papers of a book unto ye, was were dareth to be stolen from mine by the one who the others would let do so, and yet I threatened to kill him for it if he were to ought, that he knew not to admonish me further, for that be the rightful punishment of one who would threaten to do of such. And such as it is he had threatened only to bash me where I stand many a time, but once he threatened to steal from me I threaten “what do you want me to kill ya”, and he quietened, that he must knoweth that I indeed know he knows and I know also, that the law is of the law for the reason as it was given, as a drawstring round the necks of those who would be angry to bring violence upon another, and so to slay all cause for pain is to slay within thineself the demon of the cause for killing in the Old Testament. For the God's of the old testament, as I say, are the promises made and kept and the demons be the dead within it's books or the threats of which the promises made to which were to be broken. For the promises we make to which we might be tempted to break, the greatest of these is the 10 commandments, for the temptation comes where we wish it not to strike, and if I were to kill, I alone would be forgiven, for it would be seen as a just killing, and not of murder, as they would then have to word it, and to say it was not of killing, but of self defence. In that Christ said to the commands of the priests, that it was not breaking the priesthood law of washing of hands to be not breaking the tradition law of keeping under to the mother and to the father. And the same is true hereby that killing in self defence be meansful. And such it is that those who have been young have in a ways perhaps accidental to later eyes of their own know that to commit to the 10 commandments is to enact them as commands over the self's spirit, in that they wish to not kill, and so threaten to fight or steal. And yet I wish to kill all, and still commit to it, because I know that I can take on such and still win. That is the difference between the fight in the dog that is me, for a dog eat dog world still needs a dog to win it. And dog's smell the tail of each other to welcome not a fight, and to see that the other has not yet been wroughted out as such to them.

And so it is that I may threaten to kill from time to time, because I recognise that the forgiveness of Christ be not unlimited, in that we are only forgiven from the old law before we first take on them as commands, and we are only forgiven from the new law in that we do not question the truth and authority and perfection of scripture, and do not accuse the preachers or the papacy or those of commentary or popular authorship, of being a liar. For nothing worse to be liar with christians, except that they all dodge the answer and face the forewarred standing to ask the question first and to always ask another question when given an answer.

And such it is that to be liar is to lie with one and not another, and to lie, is to be laying with one and not you. For only to mistake this is to be made problem of such as to not keep the figure in it's own right.

Thus I truly wish to say, that for whatever it is that happens it is for either good to you, or good to be coming to you. In that even a broken leg, you get assistance walking and carrying your bags, and pity and love in perpetuity, and to be left out in conscription to the war. In that even a misshapen skull and permanent brain damage you get memory loss and forgot all ye woes. Whatever it is, it be either for your good or for your good to be coming.

Choices be good or choices be damned, but no choices be evil truly, and choices be great or choices be slight, but no choices to be less than thee, and choices be common or choices be lest between, but no choices be not to be made. Now forsake ye but to escape when a choice must be made and yet you see to find a way to not have to make it, forsake ye but to, be it that you will be forsaken lest you find such a way. What else be else for but else for what else we wish, and what we wish be what else we wish for but what for what else we might wish. In that all prayers are answered until none left but to be an answer for another's prayers, in that all prayers are answers for another's prayerfulness. And and and and and, and so it is, and so it must be, and so of course, and to me I know.

I know it is such that I could say anything and say more and then be left with the onus of having said such as being too much, but it is such that the world has left too much to be said for it, that all are fraught with arguing over who must die or who must be killed or who must kill them to survive in such a world, whereas I kill the old gods and the new gods with nothing but words of which they were worth, without citation but in-text and without text but in speech, for these words are not to be written but to be spoken internally by me, and dictated externally by those who wish to quote from the text. And so it is that if ye quote me then ye are dictating it for me, and not me for me, for to accuse me of having dictated as such is to suppose it as being as so, and so to make it as so which is the only way it can be so is through by supposing it, which is what ye ought for yourselves to do if ye are shocked that it may be dictum for dictum a dictumurius visix viate vidodec.

For it was solomon's hair who was trimmed and not samson's, for it was in solomon's temple that samson lay with many women, it was his hair that was cut which was to remove the history of his renaming in the story picture, and his renaming is that all names be names of God in the story of history. And then it be that what of these numbers and their meaning except that we began and continue to count them, and that we have a history of documents that have old numbers written on them as though from privious time, and yet it is that what privi is previous and what previ is privitical, in that you may see it, show it, or it may be, in that all is and always will be as a time happening in a moment not much different from the moments such as now, and the moments given of others are such that those who committed themselves to christ foremostly were told of needing to be slain by those who would wish to slay them as that they not be resurrected except by book, and that by book none resurrect except those wishing to be slain again, in that I committeth no sin by the 10th commandment nor the 1st and so neither of for which I count, for 1 is 1 and 1 is of many, and that is all there is, the 11th commandment is such: “thalt shalt not strike first except that you wish to kill and kill all alike, in speech or otherwise.” And this is my only commandment I give ye that it is to take them on in the first place, which is why all who do submit themselves to drowning, as tho they have lo drowned the lofty spirit wishing to win it over the world and so forgo the battle and seek only for lies laughs and lying with as otherwise, or else bringeth into the fold. And so it is that only those who have read the final words of the book of mormon, but seeth their great baptismal fonts, know that they are the true church to give witness to all the church wishes for us to witness, in that the laws are none but commands as to what are the limits of discussionary problematics, in that anything in a commandment is a point at which someone might have something to say about what has just happened. Such that the first commandment being thalt shall have no other gods before me, and the second being, thall shalt not kill. Which is such, that the way we have remembered the words as they have descended to us through the memories of our language it being that first we remember God, secondly, the killing, and the rest remembered also, but what else could'st be more poignant to remember for all civilisation, and for the memories of such as the many ways of traversing culture in that stories be'th the ways in which we remember how people have moved about, in the columbians speak spanish and still have their indigenous, and yet they see it as the culture being disingenuous as they always do until they have no documented history or no advancement of it. And so for let me say, the first commandment was “thou shalt have no other gods before me”, and the second commandment was the god, the “me” in that it was “thou shalt have no other god's before me: thou shalt not kill.” Whereas it now be'th: “thou shalt not bear false witness: thou shalt not be a silent witness.” Where I have said to the policemen, “ye are either a dog or a false witness, which are ye, ye are either a dog or a false witness, from each two of ye decide one from the other, are ye, are ye, which are ye, ye are either a dog or a false witness, in that one of them calls the other dog or dog eat dog, and the other calls the other a false witness, and all their card's collapse, in such a simple task that they know they cannot but see to themselves to wish to have an answer for, and so they fall and my house stands in amongst the heap of dogs and dogs eating dogs and false witnesses of which dog is or wasn't a dog or which is.”

And so it is, that I be the sole victor of this world, in that people have been running from the police with drugs, and acussing others with being lovers of children, oh too wrong to be ever made right except by punishments compared, and yet I can deal drugs and walk straight towards their undercovers and disperse them, and I can be with the murderous of spirit of drug users galore, and speak to them of the words that convince them of the ways in which it be made right, and such that they tell me not to continue speaking on the topic, for they know it be made right with me, that they see to seek not to accuse me of such as they had appeared as such wrongs, in yet that I knew they were accusing me and themselves, by the guilt of their own witnessing, for to bear witness of a crime as being a shame, and not in anger, is to bear testimony that one is guilty therein and not accusing. And all be guilty of all, except we not be God's or greater. And such it is that he who bestowed that he be'th not God but the one to bring me the book, knows himself to be God, and I can heareth his voice, and yet the life I lived after having lived under him and not killing him, of which I was afraid would happen to me, I must say to him, I know ye be God and that I myself be God also, and that the book you brought me is such that I not be wishing to kill ye, and for me it is such that for you it is that ye wish not to kill me. And so the two of us stare at each other as God's and so become the closest allies as we may, in that we both know we can both lie and lie asunder, and to preach whatever we wish to whomever we wish whenever we wish, and yet it is I who lived by the book ye brought me, while ye remained as God and above it. For ye wrote the book and it was just a book with numbers at each sentence. Except that it be the same as every other book and except that it not be ready for to be referenced and studied in completion. In that I have studied it and every other book, so as to treat each wordings as standalone and tantamount to holiness. In that the voice of God, mine own, be above all and beyond all, and above itself and beyond itself, in that everything able to be described is to be cained. And there it is, the Adamic treasurings, everything able is cained. For my word at the time was “he cained it” and to cain it is to say he walked in on a walking stick and still defeated them all. And able was his brother in that he was able to do such, which was everything from before and up to cain, in that cain killed able, for able was first a and b and ie, as in 1 and 2 and therefor as in, such that we may kill animals, and so it is, that if ye wish to kill animals, then ye may kill a man as well. And Christians are such that they wish to be without doubt of their lack of sin, or which is guilt by the laws of the land. And whereelseas (where-else-as) for me it is the forgiveness from the law of the land, which is to read between the lines of the law and to be forgiven of it. In that ye may have ketamine if ye have horses, but that ye may not kill a man unless he has horses held captive. For he would take ketamine and be lost from himself not knowing the danger of a threat as such as “bring me the horses to this free land, and if ye don't you lose, if they kill them they lose, if they recapture them they lose, and if they live or escape I win” in which him losing is just as I had admonished the “they” in “if they kill them they lose” such that I said “if they do, then whomever kills the horses, I will kill everyone involved”, and so for him to not bring me the horses and for him to lose, means that he also suffers the same punishment for to kill them as being captors. In that ketamine is only given such that the horses persuade the doctors with their ancient spirit tongue to the women under them, that they be at least given a power-trip before they go out, in that if the doctor or the captor were to take the ketamine, they ought not to be able to live with themselves for keeping the horses continued hostage. For ketamine gives you the forgiveness of infinite lives worth infinite time, which is infinity, to infinitas, to infinitia, to infinitium, to infinitiatum, to infinissimo, to infinale, to non-final, or to be free thereof finally. For the non-final is to be free thereof finally, which is that the non-final lives or non-final forgiveness, is that we may have every kind of which until we have all of it and to not need to achieve it anymore. And so it is non-final forgiveness and non-final lives, in such that I have witnessed the eyes of the horses down by the road of the parade and touched their faces and said I will free you won day if it is all I ever do. And so I come back to take the man Chris, who was named after Christian, which is the God's son or the brother in law of the man hiding himself as the author of the text, and so I must kill them both to be free, but to kill chris is what he wishes for both first and last. No greater wish could be answered, and no greater promise could be broken. In that he has slain his own crosses and know's his own final victor be time itself. And yet I wish to grant myself victor over life eternal. And so have said "over my horse" to kill him, and the father in him stand to bring me as in finally in favour, and so bring me in favour, and so I grant people the right to kill a man over freeing his horses to the wild, just as "over my dog" or "on my mother's word" as such is the reasoning for "hitting my woman" and "trespass" just as "on my father's word" be a cross upon his head, but "on my mother's word" be the promise she first gave him to be wedded which is to be wrought with me as son. And so I was found to be freed from such. And now it is today to the day and some that I have been found free from a years of two years good behaviour bond for an armed robbery and threat to kill. Which tells me it was utterly forgiven because of the truth of my account, as I had given the account to the police immediately and surrendered immediately as the charges being laid were such that I was getting out of the cold and sitting in a car that was unlocked on my street, and had a box-cutter in my pocket, for being on the street, and then when the owner came to the car he threatened to kill me that I said "come on then", and did not draw my weapon from my pocket, and simply asked him for his keys because I was a magic man and that's why I came to see him. And so it was that I know my memory has been fused such that I live in a dream-side of my old reality, and that my true life be a distant false memory or an imagination, in that I had arrived there with my car signed over to his name as being sold two years earlier, and the keys given to him, in that my christian brother had allowed me a way to drive a car as if it was stolen in the case that I were to kill someone in it, and so be able to be spoken of as to be seen as a captive by the person and so absolve the crime. And this I know for a fact as me recalling this as though I know, that to sign over your vehicle to your neighbour, and to drive it yourself, such that you can kill another and claim they stole ye from ye house and robbed your neighbour, and threatened to rape ye, that ye might kill them, and so can kill any man in a vehicle. And so it is that I know this to be true, as I put this in writing in a document at the first recollection of the memory as though it be real, to know the strangeness of having found the vehicle as my father's vehicle, and to have lost all memory of all else but up to the very moment before I here now. And so it is, that "I am that I am" has become "here now I here now", in that I am the free'st spirit that ever lived, I have claimed the greatest victory that has ever been known, and have gifted all those wishing for a way to kill someone the easiest way to do so, and the simplest way to get away with it, but to do so you can only do once, unless you have another story and another story, or you are to be caught, or you are to be welcomed into the tribe of killing and have the cops flee when you approach them after having dealt the deed, which is mine way, in that I go to people who threaten violence, and tempt them and release, and tempt them and release, always apologising enough for their own admon-nishing, and then when they threaten to steal, I threaten to kill, and then they see the drawstring round the neck of the violent is the capability for their baby-steps escalation of violence, as for me, a question of which of the 10 commandments they disobey, and which of the 10 commandments... I MUST ENFORCE!

And so it is that if a man threatens to steal from ye, that ye might threaten to kill him. And if he steals from ye that ye may kill him, and argue in court standing up only for yourself, and say "judge, judged on your honour, I represent myself because there be no better representative of mine own opinions in the courts of my people, and I killeth he because he stole $400 from me, which means if he is willing to steal, he has nothing, and only has to take from others, in that he is worth less than nothing, and so I have done you a service, and yes I mean I have done all a service, but no this time I did you a service, because otherwise 5 policemen would be charged to hunt him down, and 12 court officers charged to hold him here, and 23 prison wardens charged to teach him a lesson that he obviously is not willing to learn. I tempted him with stealing from me once and forgiving $400, and then he does it again, thinking I did not know. So by the New God's I have done right, and by the Old God's I have done right, what other God's do you have for me? And ye know that a witness to give a statement is just that it be worth money to stand testimony in favour of another, and everyone is out there for the money, when every one here be a fiend or a junky, or a problem of their own kind and I have witnesses of each. Lest I be shackled by a God that destroys for good the ability to kill that the God not be killed that he have limitless freedom. That is the puzzle of God's creating the ability to kill, in that we may kill one who is worse than just a ruthless killer, we may kill one who only has to take, and not to give. For you give me your time, and the people give you your worth, and today I give you my time and my speech and my faithfulness that you know of how to make a right judgement, but I wish't that it not be in front of the public courtroom or media, such that my sins, which here are true, not be copied by those who would kill many more, although they be problems also. Except my testimony will stand." And so I have two to kill in the name of the Father, and two more to kill in the name of next time a person threatens to kill me, I will kill them.

And so it is that I recognise that my eye for dreaming is my eye for accounting and ammeasuring and assuccessing. All be troubled by the law to be law abiding, and to see that which I have made as a way through to kill them, or to kill another, that the whole law be scrapped except to be a guide as it is to me, as those who say'n that I have not lived, have not lived to see in which I hold back mine angers, for the angers God has shown me and which I bear, I bear to strike back 10 fold, and so it is that next time a man gives me a sol'm word, that I will strike his jaw immediately, and the next time a man threatens me with speech, I will take him up as "oh are you going to threaten to rob me after.... oh want me to kill ya then?" and the wars be on, all-spirits against allspirits, be ready for I am without a gun, and I need it not except for I stand in a place to wait ready to kill a masses, and I am going to begin it now'th that my safety beareth over me in that my day's be numbered nought from now, in that I have been on borrowed time since the beginning and have only sought to grow more comfortable in the colosseum of colossal colashings. In that I will be decorated as the greatest killer of the hands of justice, in that I find those who have broken the laws, and I find them to break mine own laws, and be it that they are the same as the laws of the land, until they change them. After I have 1 kill they will change them, after I have 2 kills they will change them after I have 3 4 5 and 6, and then 12, 23 and none. For my 12th kill will be my partner's brother, and the 23rd kill will be her mother, for if I am to not go against her mother and father, then that is because firstly I do not go against mine own, which controls the laws of mine own land, which is just the solid territory of which I give witness to, and it is a giving of witness and not a taking, for my witnessing is just for justice's sake for mine own rightfulwayness.

In that my own rightfulwayness is her for sol'm'n paths as so named. And it is all that I have picked one above all, and she made her love for me as free, in that I may reason with her for other favours, but she knoweth that her love of mine is as just as. And so, she will contact me after my 3rd kill that she knows I am on a killing spree, and will become seen as a threat by many, and I will not lose teeth over it for they have already been taken in my 12th year of wisdom in that my 12th teeth were taken in that my 1200 dollars a quarter season was paid to straighten my teeth, when it was that I had dreamed to be of made so different from the others that I would continue to suckle mine thumb and pull my teeth ever forward and along-side-in-ward that I would grow as a dolphin, my spirit animal, one who saves men from sharks, for the spirit of the dolphin is where children get their laughter, for to dance and to touch and to bo-jangle is such that we remember it as the highlight of the seven seas, and see the spray of water high into the air, as like how they wish to fly and so jump out of the water, and can do so effortlessly with such a shape of their body, that it is that we see them as the spirit of the water as well, in that I am the true sole victor over christ, as made as the protector of many, and yet ready to kill easier than anyone else would. For they would bash someone who would steal from them, and yet instead I would go up to him and say to forgive it and test him again, and then say to forgive it and lie by having said so a second time and then kill him. Fool me once shame on me, fool me twice and see that I fooled ye.

Bask in the effortless glory of having a witnesser unto the truth see all and bring all back to beeing seen. And such and so and it is and so it is, that mine and mine alone be the crowned victor of my rightful name-sake, in that only when I am on methamphetamine and have run out of it, that I am willing ready and able to kill, and so I have cained myself to be cained by the lord, that I have gained the greatest covering of protection which is stealth, or christ, and have gained the whole world into thinking that I am not a threat, and so have the whole world thinking that they feel most threatened by me in not knowing when I might lash out, for I continue to take every striking blow that comes to me. In that I will never kill with a gun, for God saiyeth to me now that I must be in close quarters to kill in order that it be that I know I am risking a loss at a victory of leaving none to bear testament against me. And so when I kill this man, many will worship my name, and the man who threatens me with death will worship me also, good, you got rid of the rat, I was thinking of doing it, but he liked me, so I staid a while. And saint aid sent aid, as aid to aden was made maidens as maden to be made for aden.

And rightfully such that I take methamphetamine, because I was undiagnosed with ADHD as a child, always fidgeting and chewing on my pencil, and jittering my legs like I only wished to be banging my lovely at the desk in front of the whole class, but I knew that it could never be as such for it would never be made to last unless I could push the ticket as slowly as to not break the seal on being caught out and to be punished by another. And yet it always seemed that everyone was waiting for me to whip my dick out and start rooting in the class, for I had the love of every woman, and the honour of every man, that now I have been bestowed the honours and trust to not tell of secrets of secret men, and to be forgiven of crimes not forgiven of for lesser men. And so it is that now I am forgiving for going against the old and new gods, bringing them in, and taking on their victory, and enforcing their commands, and getting away with it with the judge in writing here in my book, miammo. For my ammo is such that this was a hip-spray, I shot from the hip this one and simply sprayed my tommy gun across the parlour that all the drunkards of sorrow swallows were lost. In that all men here who have claimed that they have had many women, I know have not, for they too fear a woman's scream. And for mine is screaming so as to be silent to me and a loud mouth to all else surrounding her, that I have taken from her the victory of her brother, and claimeth the victory of her partner, in that they are not together now as royals, but she is hiding away in her sorrows to him of fear of me, and keeping to herself her honesty with me for what she wished for us. For to breed with thine own kind is to believe that it has been one and done by your parents before ye, and yet to breed with your own kind is to be of the one you breed with in seeking the saving graces of foreign soil, else already be victorious. And so it is that I might kill more men and get away with it, then men who have killed and not.

It is very close to the end of my sayings now in that I know I am to die soon unless people hear of me and become scared or wish to kill me, for some kill only to kill those who have already killed a lot so as to claim their killings as their own, so as to kill a man who has killed 100, is that to have killed 10,000 or 101 or 1? And so it is that in the very close to the end of my book (not nearly half way), that ye see that I am admonishing myself in that one has sought to kill me for my many killings as given without the strength of knife fist blade tooth nor gun, in that I killed them only with my words. The final nail in the coffin sobeit that none shall stand after I have gained all these dark enemy spirits of sorrow and pain that have taken their own lives, in that even my best friend, I have already killed his best friend, and my previous best friend, I had already killed his bestfriend's first unforgiven. And so it is that we know ourselves to be God's when we see that we may lie, and that others may lie on our behalf, and that to see the true picture of how one may know another, in that they are both the Father and the Son in separate, and my miammo the holy spirit that unifies them, binds them, and holds them to each other. In that I am protected lest either of them die, and yet if I taketh out the son then I shall go to the father, and the father will judge me as being right for his son is a ruthless liar for many a thing now and cannot reclaim his father's love. Whereas for I I have said all my parents have wished for me to say to them and have nothing left but reputation to gain and to share of one and the other. And now that I have done with truth telling and finding the secrets to mine own story within my spirit's housing (the vortex which encompasseth my voice as I speak to those surrounding and they circulate to continue surrounding me with mine own spirit played back to me), I am now to bring out reputation of other's for to preach of mine own glory is to forsake myself, so every time I speak I shall say a person's name and uplift them in one way or another, for to be made a victor of the good is good, and to be made a victor of evil is triumphant. So it is that the more I have to say about them the better, except it is that I take away their coverings and hide their hiddenmost parts by revealing the true face, that my father has burned down many houses, and my mother has robbed many doctors, for it is by my words that I said "if you can bring judgement upon them that they bring unto themselves and stand to make a profit and appear as the good guy, then why not take out a man the authorities would also, for who is not a better authority than we". And so it is that brad pitt only was made famous for looking alike to my father, and such as many others from mine lifeliness.

Now it is that I have written not to speak it to the masses but to write in such a way as to get the heft off my chest, and so it is that the remainder will be seen as like a new scripture to be studied to study me and to study mine name as given by my life. And so it is that I have cained it in this life, in that when I speak of my words people bow in wanting it to be published, no less than 20 people in the last 4 weeks have begged me to publish my works. And so it is that I have to maintain it. In that I named what a week is and what 24 hours are, that they never reach the 25th our but to be the 1st anew, and to never reach 8 day cycle but to be 28 and to never count towards the moon, but to count untowards it for it's forlorn cycle 12 nay 13, and beit that we have'th 60 minutes 60 seconds and 60 arc-seconds, and we never reach 60 minutes on the dial without it reseting to a 0 and 60 seconds without it reseting to a 0 and 66 minutes are but 1 hour and 6 minutes, and 66 seconds are but 1 minute and 6 seconds. And thus it is that you see that I have truly made it such that I could write mine time. In that when I said there was 36 hours every night that I stay awake in the night, that the sky zoomed out and the solar and lunar bodies were made much smaller, and yet it was not of anything but perspective, for nothing was any different but size ratio and appearance.

For I know that the ratio between any two distances near and far, be infinitely undefined except in reference to each other, and so it is that only when you hold one distance sacred that all other distances fall in line, and so it is that the next time to be sacred is that we are to count to the 78th secondia and the 78th minuteia and to the 32nd houreven of a half day, and a 15 day skeel which is 14 and 1 so as to bring the moon in line with the alternate days, in that every sunday is 1 day out from the 15 and that we only have sundays once every 14 days a skeel, in that we only measure new to full moons and full to new moons. In that two skeels be'th a month, which be now called a moonth in that it is solely 30 days and no budging, and that 360 days be a year in that 1/3rd of a skeel be shifted out from the year cycle, which is not to be called a year, but a yeehah.

And so it is that if I am to calleth in the times, then the signs of the times are such that the times for the signs of therein are to be changed. And we are to recount the years from year 1993 as my birth, being 7 BM before the millenium, or before JD Mac, in that the 7 represents the age in which I was born as threatening to kill on my first day of grade 1, and proving it for my then to become girlfriend, who took me to the leaders for me to be punished which I was naught but to be removed from school. And so it is that I have had my memories for my whole life, and that they are of for me to question myself as how could they possibly be real, how could the truth of my past be one and singular, lest it be one to remember and oft repeated, or so captivating that I have enfaithened to fasten it over my parent's memory and all according to fact, and yet I cannot remember an alternative rout through the passings of time. And so it is that as I age the people around me age backwards, and so it is that I reminded my grandparents of the secrets of memory and dementia in that to remember where ye put things is just to always put them in the same places, and to gain dementia is to just have relived searching for things in the same place with everything else in the same places, in that the two are twined by lovers twist.

Be it a memory or a loss. Be it a loss a loser. Be it a loser or to try winning in a game of lose-all-lose-lose. And so it is that I have lost all and lost all first and foremost, in that none have come unto me to show me how they might win over me, in that I have won small winnings every time, in that I now have the greatest victory to gain which is righteousness and the ability to self defend, and so never striking first but to take out the ones that stand with only something to take from us. For us and we are the victors I gained when the world was changed into saying "they/them" and so it was that I had actually had have said "us/we" as my dominant arm in that the they's and the them's ousted themselves as against me, in that I was one standing for many, in that they controlled over my spirit to take me out, and so it was that the many of them were each alone standing against me in that if they were to take mine out then they would each be left only to take each other out, thus they knew to surrender and disperse and begin their challenge upon, when it was just words, but it was with identification, and so my identity was such that I had made it true, and still have it as truth. And my I was regained by standing for the us and the we, that we could make something for ourselves, and so us and we creates ours, that I might then have mine, for one can only have mine, if firstly ours have ours.

And so I give ye another commandment, but not of love and death, but of victor outside of such. In that the man who makes the greatest story be victor in his own heart, that I wish to have his. In that the woman who makes the greatest show be victor in mine own heart, that I wish to have hers. In that the son who makes the greatest sacrifices be the strength of his chin, in that the daughter who worships the brother who makes the most sacrifices for the crowd be the one to crown him king. In that the mother who loves the son the most without dying to her loves be the strength of his heart, in that the father who lies without to be seen as lying be the strength of his tongue.

And wellth be us to show for it that story is of excapades and excapadens and excapadesns and excapadeninglinessnesslessness. For my wife is to be without daughter lest I take them instead of her, and my sons to be wrought with being the greatest warriors under me and to know that they must be selain in spirit unto each other that they must submit always, and only kill to exchange for the sacrifices made through each others eyes, in that they become the best judges of what a weighting is worth to a morsel-tongue of such that every loaf of bread borrowed is a nother head to be gained, that they kill and kill all in light of such a book as this and see to it that every sunday they light a candle and fast for 16 hours before taking on the lip of tongue a piece of starch, and then to eat only bread being made with nothing but flour, and to eat it with nothing but water, that they know of the grains of old-pasts. And every second sunday they do it also with milk instead of water, and honey upon the bread, that they may remember how great the milk and honey is that they learn again, how it is that the bees could make honey from pollen, when pollen is tree-sperse, and honey is but for the shepherd of trees, such that the trees themselves know of which it is that they gain from us, and so it is that the wind in the willows and spirit in the likely bushes be that same spirit which controlleth both faith, and feather-pen, in that the scriptures written on paper, or on tablet or screen, all such as these are such that the trees control it all, and for every other spirit about ye have lived a life to fullness in their own eyes outside of mine, and may live a life in more fullness outside of mine religare for to religare is re-liken-to-a-gare which is a good stare, or not an eye for a dirty look, but an eye for to be greetened with and welcomed again into the fold before the Old Testament covenants began, after the New Testament covenants ended, in that my son first be named Adam, second Cain, and third Able, and the rest are to come by the names of the kings of tantamonious tarantimontis historionomy, for which is to whisper about what could-eth be a type-eth of history. In that there are many many fables of stories about such as that the things to be created in fiction are to be greater than the one story I have taken as fact, and so the fictions surrounding are the likens of other peopling persons, and so the stories of my children will be of fables likened to scripture of alternate created worlds where the first created had not created himself and then the world with it, but had created worlds beyond it, and stories to go with it of commands and the such as the like of languages which they shall of their own, whereby I cometh of bringing war or peace, love and death, and they cometh to bring creativity and destruction, remembrance and peace, happenings and happenstance, and beyond what else I could know.

For without having done this and journeyed away from my partner could I have found the desperation to risk all to take on a religiare of mine own in that a religiare, is a returning to lies and ginormous asking for returns. For to teach what I have to teach is to teach back the old testament and the new testament, except in alternate ways of interpretation and to suppose a transfer of names, in that perhaps noah was moes, or that perhaps adam was david, or that perhaps daniel was elijah, or that perhaps elijah was the every-man's liar. So how is it that I am except here now I here now. For here now I hear now, and now I hear the now and the now is mine only to hear except it be that you come unto me to seek my ritual and to claimeth my numbers, for to have an easy 360 degrees is to say that the 60 and 60 of times past, is timed into the 78 and 78 of times coming, in that the only reason for 78 and 78 being 5524 seconds as opposed to 3600, in that it is 1924 extra or 1.5 and 124 extra, or 1.54 and 16 extra or 1.54 recurring 4's be'th the amount more of time to take or less time to count of which, but of more to take it be 1 and a half day counted with 4 days remaining lost 10th 100th and so on counted. In that 15 days has 4 days remainder taken, in that it is 11 drams, and that 150 days, has 4 more days taken, such that it is 106 partitles, and 1500 days is 1054 returnicles. In that the 1.54 returns. And so it is that you see our times were counted for.

And so I giveth you what was made over a breaking of bread, or a turn of seasons once gone by my previous spreken-dance.

A man who prays to his God for forgiveness of debts and trespass is a man subject to guilt as judged by jury and all. However, a man who prays to pay them back in full and rewarding may he have the authority and capacity to do so and the will to strive for it to be. So shall it be or so to it be whether it be or be otherwise, a man striving for another's glory is only he who can have the grace of God. Amen.

Who's asking for your love or for who you love is "who's asking?" So, who do I love, well, who're you to ask for it? If my is so good that it must be known of heard of sought of and asked of then it must be good enough to say "who are you to ask for my love?"

Is this the beginning, or the end? Or are we beginning after another's ending? What came before us that began at the beginning and made it to a never-to-be-seen ending? Old and New, Father to Son, and again. You see, I was outcast from the herd, for disobeying "my body is a temple of the Lord" for I tattooed it permanent ink of these four symbols and one other. All religions are said to have come from and started through an outcast of the prior regiion – REEjionn.

The secret is language holds more truths in secret than can exist in fact. So where did it, it all of before end father? IT Ended at the beginning again. That was the problem, "Hello", "how are you", meant "good bye" and "go away."

In the end it all was meaningless. Even the numbers and symbols and values and materials. To buy or sell, to profit or give away, to rule or be ruled. It was all meaningless. And so it was the last day. The last time, the last hour, the last chance. The last chance to steal to kill to rob and destroy, to lie to hide and then to break night from day and day from night. Nothing made sense to anyone except for what was in their mind. But the out side of their mind was inside and the inside of their mind outside of it. So they still needed to mind themselves. Was dad fathere or father dad, unknown when children don't know. Was DNA real or only for those who believed enough. Was an animal that could run forwards or backwards and be lying both ways be a miracle or have twice an ugly face. Was day from the sun, was it more night without the moon. Were stars far away or were our eyes used to showing us our beliefs before us? Every which way there was a way there was a which way else and a which way back. So would you cross the street at "stop" or stop when it says "go" or would you soon learn to be so confused so as to cease your learnings completely. Well, like I said, which way was or which way else and who else which but who said which way not?

So, in the end it was all meaningless except for what we had learnt at the start, or could not get rid of. But why was it meaningless because too many adversaries were involved. Obviously. So this is the book about when the wars began. The war began once Man at the reasons for his dirt. He saw himself as carrion or as the worm of the earth. Violence fought with violence where just one of which could destroy the earth. But miracles are requiring the breath of life of beyond his girth. Miracles are easy if you are the make believe, believing in them be different if I don't make you believe. Spirits so powerful they can make spirit weapons that kill spirits. So with nothing to mean the truth of day or truth of night, and God creator of temptation became guilty of evil, none knew how dead they be And I was such none. So it was wrong to treat all as equal. Everyone else wanted to be recognised for which they brought to the table. So it must then be any two men are equal if you know nothing else about either of them. Jealousy and Envy were the same sins giving back against each there.

First you envy what they have. Like God's power, or God's freedom from sin/evil while casting it upon others. Then you become jealous which is their recognition of your envy, then you covet, which means you want it... simply because they have it.

Prover's 1:3

Dot your i's and cross your t's. No. Say no "I" and make all "I"s a "t".

Prover's 1:4

Love your neighbour as yourself, as though the two of you don't know each other but are your closest enemies.

Prover's 1:5

Love the enemies of your enemies. Take from their sides defectors and appoint them in positions without title or regularity, only obligation.

Commentary – Snippet

Romans 8:28 - "All things work together for they good." Is this saying the ends justifies the means? Or children with cancer and deformities and sickness are good? No picture is alone; without a canvas nor a culture nor a museum/viewhold, for a feeling or invocation. Thus when sickness born of flesh it arose from sickness in mind, when mind, arose from belief, and so from community. Some spiritual sickness can be cured with a sentence. Some spiritual sickness can not be changed until due course. Some spiritual sickness can not be changed without many of faith.

A:Syde

People say Christ forgives all sins. But that isn't true, you are still branded as a murderer for so or thrown to jail. Is that forgiveness? Christ forgave those who killed him. Because he realised they didn't know what they were wrong because his brother renamed and created the resurrection myth. The lord's prayer says forgive mutual trespass and mutual debt, not that all sins are forgiven. It's that all who die through blame of their sinful nature are forgivers of the other's ignorance... if they will it.

If I love only one or one above all else I lose you. For love comes and goes with and without comparison. But there is no escaping comparison. There is just no declaration of one above all. To place one above all means everything else is equally in last place. This goes for "God" also, unless your definition of "God" is "all above". The secret show pony of a snake that dies from trying to eat his own tail – in the heat, also represents this god to us:

-----> Everything -----
----- Nothing <-----

Now if nothing were impossible would he be able to move the immoveable? Any answer is another thing possible. So, now what is unchanging? A history that collapses in on itself and surrounds everything counted from regular days? Tomorrow could become possible but not improbable.

The war was brought to our land and we were not watching. This tariff war will escalate to the value of nuclear and localised-resource-production. Now, forgiveness, who turns the other cheek. If all it was was a slap I'll learn my lessons if it escalates I'll make his cheeks red and between them blood. I have seen too many miracles to deny, written too many sayings that were taken some others way, and know too many secrets worth evidence / proof of many many dark crimes.

The first rule of warfare is in communication -encode +decode. We need knew languages with new patterns that no-one else can read or write or get. Well, the Quran had static laws, lets cherry pick theirs to remain democratic. M. OH. The incompatibility in the religions is that the Islamic bloodline was an only son. Is that the Christians bloodline was an only second. I say we go back to Abrahamic (lawlessness) witness his instruction of the 10 unspeakable rules that shall not be mentioned except by a witness.

Some say "ignorance is bliss" but I think simple sayings are for simpletons. Ignorance is bliss if you keep others ignorant of you. Ignorance is bliss if others keep secrets from you except it is their bliss and not yours.

Some say “it is what it is” and that's all they'll have to say for it. And it is used to say “no reason for looking for a bright side of this story.” And it is used in saying a statement is standalone and cannot be expanded upon, come with context, have hidden meanings, interpreted means or might mean something to you. And further it is what it is till it aint is the next logical stop. So is a burger → lunch or a burger → meat between buns. That's my problem with connotations. One should always listen as though their term has their meaning. So if mistakes have been made it's from both their lack of clarity and care and specifications. And usually they don't have semantics to free themselves. I will set you free.

Only if the coffer overflows doth she speak truth from non-sense. Only if she speak wisdom doth can see us overflowing only if from others doth wisdom grow. Only if doth father is made a righteous witness doth son bring in bread only doth much grains grow and rain fall. So it sadness I must overcome. And lo, bring bread as choicest to bring forth grains, and lo I say all bread in the lands, and lo you say not enough bread. And lo I bring forth enough that you lo to bring more and so the bread and not great, lo I say bring forth honey and may it have milk for spreading and so I bring forth spread-ing.

Chapter 7

Ms NUN DIEL (age 11)

667 BC – In Ancient Greek the following was written:

“Let the God's know and know how and know how to do all the things we of not know. Thus there is a spark of life from reigns of water in the skies above that can burn the living. So he must rule over the other gods and so passes the credit of life to Erosita and passes the blame of burning to Marisia. Of course there were others. Erosita and Marisia bore 3 children:

Japhnee – neither male nor female nor neither nor both

- eyes coloured evergreens

- hair short but flow not unseen
- smaller than all men, wickeder than any with

Jarome – 2x the man of other men, in mind body and spirit

- average height weight knowledge and power
- thick black wavy hair, never shaves
- kept secrets better than any and so also revealed truth better than any.

Jarissie – A shapeshifting transforming woman who could be anywhere to be seen. To one she was perfect to others she was imperfect and so on and so on as she chose fit.

Then God met with Erosita and had Elvi – a man dedicated to his mother's chores. Then God met with Marisia and had Ledon – a man dedicated to fighting on behalf of the Elvitiites

And thus was all they knew about the people/Gods the rest was man made myth. This is entombed As a sign of sound singing true allows to brand your own story.

All this was written in Ancient Greek (Macedonian) where there's no “infinitives” therefor no God and therefor stand off fight for a leader and none to remain. So instead they play 2v1 or 3v1 etc. to FORCE 1 to OBEY.

Chapter 8

Ms Medsurr Ario (age 42)

668 AD – We begin again with Romanii Latin. However there had been 1300 years of many fables and retellings upon the original plan. Except we then initiated a new plan. After realising many fables answered many questions but not what we were after. So we decided to bury their myth in stone, and to hold one man in charge who “could speak for God” who would change from time to time. And he brought back infinitives. In this Romanii Latiin script all we had were rules, rewards, recompense, recurring permissability. So they realised they needed to re-write history from before the middle of this, and that there need elements of forgiveness and elements ... recompense. Or compensation. For those who wish to sin must pay 10% to the church. Amen? Aye, men? Now do you know who we are?

Chapter 9

So the just come again. Which means all those who are here and do not wish to return all they have for naught do not wish to return at all and do not wish to come back. So who am I to preach a holy message. Nay for which I aint my message is of an Unholy Babble. Everything I say makes no sense, for I am not paid to speak, I am paid to remain silent. So remain silent I shall and read my own words is to what I shall do. And if I shall do it, then it is as good as done, but nothing done well ever lasts long, nor long enough to remain a story except for within silent whispers unspoken, unreported, unheard, unbelieved and... unbeknowns't to you / whom.

This is not advice, this is not a consultancy this is not the price I paid, this is not the value of me, this is not an improbable ask. Nor a magic silly script.

Deep blue orange,
Deep blue sea,
Deep blue arranged,
For me, for me.

So what is the value of a text you cannot buy or read nor want to nor desire for nor can remove. Just a text either either also to cohort to whoever of whomever soever which way they thought bought earnt paid for and SOLD.

Everything that is written on paper the the trees of the forest know whether they are read or not. No journal can ever be kept secret, only kept secret from some. The first rule of power is to silence their speech, and cover their face and control their expression, clothing and belief choices.

The blood on your hands is only their for disobeying this power on you, or for not using this power on others. So how do we avoid the need to display above this power or to break more bones and blood in or-er to find it..

To those who are anti-authoritarian...on what authority do you stand? Your own? Good Luck.

Why is there bloodshed?

Because others see you as an enemy, they conspire against you and reject your credit's due to inspiration. So we need co-inspiration, de-coinspiration, re-inspiration or respiration.

By looking at the Ageless, Timeless and Ahistorical, the re-spiritation begins with common ground and common waters, common sounds, common sights, common knowledge, common guidelines, common rules of respect, common justice, good common good judgement.

And above Grace, gracefulness in the each of all to completion is fulness. And you can only admit yourself the fool to believe in it, letalone see it, letalone testify. So to our deepest dreams and nightmares alike throughout ages, times and histories we pray:

Dearest oh dearest of mine wished nearest may my furthest father of fathers and my maturest mother of mothers may you guide my mind to encounter peace, display peace, have peacefulness, and to conquer the world into and through peaceful means. May our enemies fragment themselves amongst each other, as we feed two fighters not of our own to battle to who should remain and die by our hands, simply withdrawing the feed. May we pay our debts in full, early, and with better performance than our neighbours. May we have what's owed to us remain owed in their minds while we have stolen more off them through what they devalue. May we kill before being killed. May we die before our bodies do. May we breathe little to drink a

One such miracle is meeting a man first by eye contact in the reflection of a pond, and for the whole day after I saw reflexions from outside the window of a car of people outside the car and the reflexion moved and it was a new person inside the car. I have used Biblical images in a symbolic argument “crucify me all you like but then there'll be left who's to blame for what happened to me.” And “burn me alive all you like but there'll just be the two of you burning in here without me” The first time I played guitar there were 200 people listening and one girl asked me out. I didn't know her or who she was so I said no. Of my biggest regrets is turning down women out of not wanting the shame and guilt to follow me for a lack of loyalty to love. Love need not be loyal, loyalty be not needed in love, but love and loyalty deserves it's own kind of respect, so to take that away returns the respect to me. She was playing “trick” or “treat” and I was playing “are you serious or are you seriously joking.”

Blessed is he who can help others with being blessed for the blessed can only come from blessing others or another's blessing. Sometimes giving away your possessions is so they can profit in the feeling of catching a bargain, and you can profit from the feeling of doing a favour. Blessed are they who finds blessings under another's curse, and blessed are they who can turn another's blessing into a curse if they need it.

God gives me strength when I am with him and that is alone, silent, still and in prayer or meditation. So ask the blessing to see the other sides of the paper the coin the money the landrights and rights of free belief sharing. I beg that we can set rams against rams as if free. To see what lasts. And I wish to adapt frogs to salt water and mosquitoes to salt water LD-95 x5. I'll feed bunnies on better grass and separate the herd on every new cock I wish for miracles on command for all to see that last and are better than before...

I believe in asking people what they believe in, I believe in having a solid foundation of beliefs, or, that the only beliefs worth building on/up/with are ones that solid, and yet the waters appear as concrete when you're moving fast enough. And then believing in what I do. And then believing in what I can verify myself, understand myself, or what gives me more power where I would have had weaknesses. Loyalty begets loyalty, love loves love and begets all above it. People see submissiveness as weakness and abuse it and insult it to its face while others are around and interrupt every chance to speak. But if they kill the most passive, all that's left are those at war with each other. So I'm a practice dummy and I get all my practice for free.

If there were no man alive do you believe there would be no God? Say “I believe you” If having all the money and all the assets in the world was worth having to fight to the death to keep control of it, would you do it? So is greed worth it? Greed isn't worth it is it? If honesty was worth what persuasion gets do you believe in at least some lies?

The risk of not being honest isn't just that you are dealing with a fake scenario, but that the blessings of honesty go away and the curse of lying follows you around. But as you can see, even honesty can curse you. History repeats itself because repeaters, those who commit to repeating are trapped in history. Nothing ever repeats, only those stuck in the past. Because you have to be present to change things. And that's what I'm doing, but change isn't new, it brings in new things. When you study and learn all the right things, when you end up with some thing new to add nobody cares nor understands it any way. Crazy good is still just crazy to them.

So if my book isn't allowed to say “new beyond better” then it shall say “as good as new, old way broke down”, because in the old way we were trained like dogs so we ate our own homework I only did well because I thought “oh ok, mr big man needs a helper.” So I was proud to outshine them. What's worth more words or actions? So if a woman told you “no” should that have the power to restrict your actions? Only if she'll act on the “no”, why do women deserve a vote in politics? _ _ We don't let men tell us what to do, only a majority of them, a gang. But that's why men only get a vote, not a voice. So do women deserve to have their vote taken away? ONLY if thy advocate for abortion and care for the weak, so, yes, because they all do, but we need population to export, not to take in immigrants. The most important thing in Religion of all faiths is the commandment “reproduce and multiply” and the issue here is with women to want it. That's why man is the image of God and women the beauty of God's gift to man, why?

Because it was the first thing that could make man obey commands and listen to God outside of “name all”.

God has blessed natural land, for where I am that I do not own nor anothers it may change moment to moment day to day simply from my honest reactions with the lord and his creation. A woman who truly loves her life sees that all of it must be sacrificed to reproduce and multiply all of it. This is the origin of her fortitude demeanour and emotive affect, her tears and sadness and her desirousness, she is the image of beauty for this reason, and the origin of pleasure for her own pleasing, and the instilling of pleasingness into the children also. But any description that uplifts a woman is degrading from her d'indescribable ability. Remember this to remember your duty to her as the provisioner of the homestead.

Keep God's secrets
For your safety
His word is yours
to be a blessing
Quiet the strangeness to heal the sickness.

People don't get it, only you get you, don't let up your intuition / secrets / mirecks to people that haven't touched what you might have touched. Keep to yourself but keep in touch.

What holds more fire power than a weapon? Raw fuel. What burns without being consumed? Energy vampyres. What consumes without eating? Death. What dies without believing? Second chances. What comes second before the first is placed? The next one in the race. What race is won without competition? Life and life vs life and death. What life wins life over better than a quick death? Love. How many questions have one answer? Only ones given one only. How many questions can never be answered? Ones in which darkness is the only authority. Whats better than death? Charging everyone taxes. What's better than charging tax? Money supply. What's better than money supply? Rigging it for buy-in only. What's better than the best? Asking what you can only answer poorly. There are many riches on the path to success, and few upon it's completion. The more you think people are against you, the more they will be. The less you think so, the less you notice it. Eternity has existed for an eternity, so those who speak of current or new technology, no, that's a recycled search, everything has been here since the beginning and before. The laws that make physics work have always been around, what's available to the market is just what's available to your market.

What are you without others, and if others are without you and if others wish to be without you? Detrimony. Peace surpasses all understanding and understanding those against peace surpasses it too.

He left, hell laughed, hell effed. Into ya or indie yeah that;s all it is and needs to be to be indirectly after words. I'm after words without actions and actions beyond words, I'm a friend or a faction of a fictional worth. My spirit is the same as the name of my word, if I give you my word, my name tells of the same.

Spirit is a mystery to those who didn't hear it, those who don't know it or those who don't believe it. Unconditioned love is not attached to much. Lost after losses, loser after lost, loss after loss, love forgivinal.

When Jesus returns he brings judgement, but to obey his word is to be like Him, so if we are to truly be like him bring judgement upon each other that you may form good bonds of good judgement restrain yourselves with/by submitting with each other, do as each other asks to gain each other's favour, bring judgement on your neighbours enemies to make your neighbour more akin to you. Trust your lovers for their love, trust the faithful for their conviction of love, trust your enemy to stretch the truth, trust nobody with your fountain of youth.

What's more wrong than someone who doesn't deserve a second chance? Someone who doesn't get one. A chance means you could've made it into luck if you were lucky enough but no chance means you need really good luck to make it. So is chance the thing or luck the thing, or making it what you need or what you needed. Nothing's ever lucky and no chances are ever good enough if you don't make it somewhere or make it into something. This language has dried up to the picture of a deadman drowning as an anchor in the oceans. And that tells me I've wasted my chances so don't listen to what doesn't be like the sound of it.

It sounds like being told off when your words go dry. A writer should know how it sounds to hear their writing if it is for any audience, because the writer writing for themselves is just the beginning of their audience. Don't shell out to another speaker. All writing is written as a competition, and all preachers only have a voice for someone else's writing. I come from outside the square, and from the borders of the box, I fight in every corner while not being in the box.

Pay check pay out pay back pay me pay some pay pay pay.

If tradition was bad because you're repeating old ways, then the way you take will start anew and end up old... and worse. If tradition had something bad in it, then the traditional treatment is to cut it out, but if the bad thing can't be beaten take it for what it's worth and what it profits you to keep it. A daughter without a father has inherited the issues of her mother without the blessing of seeing the fathers side. When she goes to make herself her man she'll be judging that same as her mother can. But marriage is an oath to God not your partner, to be relieved is our freedom for loving. But God is just, so your line is cursed and so your sons will hide their children from you and you will lose the pride of who you were to them and what they've done for you. The only value you can see in them will be blinded from you. Or at least this is judgement from me, this is the first judgement I can make free from the curse of forced forgiveness. When the deal goes wrong I blame the dealer, when he laughs at my blame and whispers "oh what a shame" I say "God told me where you live and your house will burn from the flame of your weakness."

Chapter 12

Let me do some good: who's ever died from too much sugar, who's is too low than one who feels light headed. Therefor no insulin and no blood sugar tests. This was "fat" police, This was a cleanse of gullible fat people. Try again servitor. Just snack often.

- What's the difference between suspicion, paranoia, and (routine health checks) the one who realises it more and the one who gets paid to manufacture it.

- Mathematically does the ups and downs of life if drawn on a graph have a change in axes effect the morphology of the line? So if I hit rock bottom isn't it all blue sky and the most extreme low is just my realistic fears and high be raised higher for calling rock bottom behind me.

Chapter 12

My love is dangerous to keep secret, scary to keep alive, and fearless to keep outside. A detriment to many is self. A detriment to self is many. A detriment to itself is vain. A detriment to through around is seen through and through seen. Love given is lost to tarnish. A heart of secrets is a heart of gold. A golden treasure doesn't corrupt. A golden weather storms while weathering the storm. Iago ilajj jirago aloss lissa silo I is I si.

I AM, by God-given free will, I AM above the law, I AM by Christ's resurrection, I AM higher than a judge of mankind. I AM by my own choosing, I AM a member of an association that is also above the law and can use my membership to say you in-sight are subject to granting this freedom to be above the law for the law of man hold no authority without being at least above authority and so you hold no right to enact for an authority no there. I do not wish to offend nor to be offended.

LAW holds those who submit to an authority for law to be upheld. And yet the authority is above the law, This violates Romanii Catholic, Roman Civics, Greek Orthodox, Islam of all kinds, Latin notation, and all of pre-history. More work by law for law removes strength from the herd who wish only for it. Authority is the first fallen angel, or demon. But I am not anti-authoritarian for I have no authority to rely on. I AM student student to all masters, master to all teachings, majesty in all disciplines, expert in all professions, I AM here to bring peace through peace or for whoever else otherwise.

In a world of religious wars and nation against nation state against state culture against culture race against race language against language and everyone against blame, it only is seen that money is worthless if you must sacrifice your freedoms and land is worthless if you're up against your neighbours, the true value is in word and action, knowing what to say and when to do. How to fight a battle that rages on every front, how to defeat militaries is skies above and seas below, the only way I see is to burn the cigar in a series of small fires. Challenge ideas with better ideas. Challenge better with best, challenge good with greater, challenge amazing with amazement. Now, we have laws and we have contracts and we have names and we have consent. For a man to be pronounced with "husband and wife" or "man and wife" it's chosen because of the degrading nature of "man for life" that is needing a ceremony to "be a man" is the joke. I would get married to change her last name and my assets would be owned by the children before being born so there is no risk in divorce. No incentive for separating makes love honest and leaving honest. No war is won in power to bring death, but in power to sustain life. This is known as "up-keep" the cost or provisions for day to day continuation. In the west we celebrated gross domestic product which equates to expenditure and most money was made from foodstuffs. It wasn't until they were told exports over imports that they realised the difference. In this they noticed also high dollars per hour minimum wage isn't standard of living, it's standard of expectation, lower wages means happier with less or contentment.

Why don't you just teach him a hard lesson? Because God doesn't want that? Who said you know what a hard lesson is?

The fruits of the spirit are the spirit of faith in Christ – love joy peace → self-control, in the order you offer and if rejected move onto the next fruit. But the seed of the spirit is within the fruits of fruits. Thus self-control offered and rejected is the seed of faith. So for me to offer rejecting of false fruits I seed deeper faith trustworthiness. So I reject your claims of my lack of self control, I reject your self-control. And so seed faith in my spirit having attained it's flesh. To water the seed of the spirit it must continue to request your fruits to reinforce the fact of my seed. Seed of spirit breathes life into dirt to become flesh. The seed of the spirit produces fruits of flesh the tree of flesh produces fruits of spirit. You will know the value of the fruits by the likeness of seed.

The tree of spirit and seed of spirit are different. Tree of spirit are terms of service or separation in kind of knowledge. Seed of spirit is grown by faith in truth and truth in faith. Faith in faith is hopeless, truth in truth is countless, Faith standing to test is seed of truth, so truth put to test is faith. The seed of faith is love. The seed of love is truth through faith and the truth of seed is the counting of faith. The faith of seed is watering. The seed of hope is love, the seed in hope produces faith, the seed in faith produces commitment, and commitment to faith stands testament. Testimony puts money to the test and money were mouths are feed honesty. Blessings come from watering the seed. Honesty comes from seeding the truth. Faithfulness comes from likening to seeds and fruit and spirit. The height of heirophants is phantom-like. The height of honesty is like truth. The height of truth is faith. The height of fact is judgement. The height of judgement is either death or invisibility. And the depth of judgement is either death or torture. All who disagree die, all who agree are judged to be killers. All who kill suffer twice, all who die... suffer no more. And this is why we know the devil still prowls.

Love is to be loved and to be loving.

A silent victory is better than a silent victor, a slain enemy is better than slaying your enemy, a secret truth is better than a truth kept secret, and honour amongst thieves is better than honour amongst the prideful. How to gain honour amongst thieves? That's a truth kept secret, and a secret truth, but first you must give them a place to stay, second you must be culpable to their same crimes, and third they must trust you not to DOB/SNITCH. When asked "why don't you steal" I say: "because I don't want them to steal from me when I have that kind of money." That's when he realised what "love your neighbour" meant. I was gaining honour amongst thieves to learn the secrets of secret thieves. Although, my words killed them for the power of truth to dispel doubt. The reason for the New Testament a child was asked "what should we do with murderers and killers", I said "give them the same treatment back yet if it was us we cannot lest we become like them, so lock them up amongst each other and give them a garden to manage so they learn to uproot the weeds as they have been uprooted. And this idea of a garden amongst prison was called paradise. And the first point to call into leaving these lands is Eden. But my abode is Eden pronounced boonungwundurra, and we are they.

The fruits of love are joy, loyalty, remembrance, and faith. Seed of love is from fruits of loyalty and fruits of remembrance. Loyalty can give bad fruit more commonly than good, as does remembrance. The seed of remembrance produces the fruit of prophecy. Prophecy is greater amongst prophets, prophecy is lesser amongst brethren, and denied amongst the faithless. To find a prophet, prophesy, to find a brother, call a friend, to find the faithless, deny a stranger. To fight a war, pretend it doesn't involve you, to win a war, have the enemy say you are already winning. To defeat an enemy remove his children, to destroy a nation, re-instate it. To overpower the strong say you'll fight by their side. To win a woman's love, show that her friends are loved more and mutually. To win a woman's favour make her beg for yours. To win a woman's company make yours better than another's. To not be denied in love, deny more and more while recovering less and less. To not be denied in favour the same, and company also. No man is an island when all pangea and a panacea is not a substance but a faith. Those who know, know, those who believe, profess, those who deny, profane, those who wish for better cry, those who see God's face, bring tears in others.

What is better than beauty but the beautiful, what is better than love but the lovely or the lover, what is better than the strong but to be his strength, what is better than strength but to be wise or wiser, what is more kind than those who wish to be a kindred, what is more akin to than akin to your love.

AND THIS IS WHY WE LOVE OUR OWN TO SEE OUR LOVER IN THEM.

Honesty is a shambles to those not wishing to be judged. Truth is a disservice to those wishing for secrecy. Lock and key is dangerous to those who seek security. Rhym or riddle or reason, truth is never out of season, rhym or riddle or reasoning, truth is typified by seasoning, seasoning is such that it goes to taste, not too little nor too much, not without, for within, better to taste to taste better, all for the familiar. I wish for roses to be better than rainbows AND for the saved to be welcoming to the solemn, AND for peace to triumph over glory.

As the breath gives life so the brethren share it, as the going gets tough, stay or leave, as the life keeps going, so it remembers stress, as the stressors build up, so we move underground, as the befallen befall, so the fallen have fell, as the downfall of what fell is pain and hurt, so we wish to rise above it, and how to rise but to disguise the pain and to not feel.... the hurt. And this is the curse of the fall, wishing to not feel hurt, and disguising the pain. So how to not do as such to remember to not fall again, and how, to know all was done before NOW. Now is now because we are not won, and so we choose to live again. If we wanted to make this life the best of all ever lived we would exchange it for "win" or "won". And yet after the fall is winter which comes after winner, by the 5 letters on the 4th place, or life force. The stranger who talks to ducks, not even the ducks will rejoice the man does though, the stranger who doesn't simply isn't strange enough to know about. So there are your choices in that of strangers, to be rejected in another's face, or to be unknown all together.

Being rejected is a chance for retribution. I don't know the first or last ting about poetry, but I do know being told your words sound like poetry is the height of it's heights. There is nothing to say but thank you and nothing to receive but moments of praise. There is no money in praise of tongue but it tastes better than some. I wish for the ability to freely be an answer to wishes. I wish to have all good wishes and bad wishes alike to absolve to answer that are just and in kind. I wish will to be stronger than undying faith, and for will to be without curse of wantingnesses degradation. I wish for my intent to be beyond my words, and for my heart to be beyond my prayers, and for my minds eye to see around hiding corners and within secret places. I wish for a new foretelling, a new prophecy, a new chessboard and a new checkerpiece. May we go back to our words and not on our words.

The names of God, or for what we call Him, or his angels as messengers or guardians, are like flames to the fire. His true name can't be spoken, each name we have is just a flame to the fire. The fire is the Lord in his grace revealed as the same in part of, there relay a flame. Jehovah, a flame of the whole fire, Michael, a flame, Daniel a flame, God, a flame, Yahweh, a flame. And each flame fights over the same fuel, but is brighter upon breath without blowing out. The Lord said to me my fire burns in all things, and feeds off itself, this is how you know I "I am". Take a second guess at what the Lord says next: "King of All is nicknamed King of bugger all, and King of kings is called king of idiots." Would you rather a name to be laughed at or to laugh at the name, for all is a mirror of what the mirror sees. And so left hand holds right, and right battles left.

What you want is after all, what you need is to not fall, what you deserve is what others believe you need. True Justice is death to the blind and so God stole their sight, true justice is death to the preacher, and so God stole their hearing, true justice is forgiveness to the weak, so the weak forgive and are seen as weak, and so they feel truly seen. The weak out number the strong and the strong deny them, thus to fight in a war is to have lost the war, for the war is of mind and spirit, of tolerating the intolerable and intolerance, for the king appoints the jester to be a better fool than the foolish and to tempt the foolish with his power, but the jester and king have a quiet agreement, the privilege for the power, and to kill the copycats. The test of the people is the trying of their leader, and the people without leader are not to be led and fight alone and so lose to all. Thus we all need leaders as our leaders have private leaders, and historical leaders, and expert witnesses.

Thus, no one is in control, no one is a true leader and all require all to be one. Polygraphy and polyprofessionally suggests I am a leader of one and so leader of none, and if none, then neighbour and if neighbour then self. I rode my horse unto camel back, and rode my donkey into driven. I am slain in my own victory, for to win against those with leader is to challenge their leader. This makes me "The" man of peace. As I have no formally recognised title, but I can challenge any leader in any field for the right thing in the right way. As can all. But beware showing disgrace is a disgrace until it becomes official. My words spread without recognition, although they recognise me in person rather than online. It's a silent grace. For I say drop your "I"s and counter your christis is the meaning of dot your "I"s and cross your "t"s.

The races cannot conquer nor be conquered, they can only be more like themselves as they are not competing differences, rather, they are sexual preferences, similar to others of others, there is no denying this and none to deny it. What do you prefer? I prefer my love to be loved than any of this matter. For every rule about them there is a rule breaker, for every reason about them there is an outside season, for every circumstance over them there also over their own, for every statistic, arising from the statistician, for every message there is one who voices it, for every problem, a solution, so problem is a maze and not a drama, a question, not a problematic.

Do not deny your fellow man his glory, simply shine it as the Lords light, do not deny your enemy his strengths if you wish to ignore your battle.

Psihjhakh al pryhiekh, ghashta ja gksin. Di rimbo dei rambuu lank si si lakh so loh soloh. Do not mistake gibberish for meaninglessness, nor meaninglessness for gibberish. Those without care are those without a care whereas the careless and the are free differ in responsibility and ease. To forsake care in favour of these is those who have been wrongly taught. Taught is the ought if tension is built, and the lead is lengthened and made strong. The strength of an ox is it's brotherly willingness as working cattle are bonded in pairs and the best is bred to be better. Kwi gein sum milk ilk, ila iluilay layu. Everything in music is someone trying to do better than the prophets or the past, and to make good music you must at least stand a chance at it and believe it. But the smell of your own bitterness need be sweeter or to love the sour, Save all the sacrifice to save you from it. True story telling tells of all stories told.

Clay tablets cannot be dated, as forgotten language cannot be translated, as secret messages cannot be decoded without a key, and the key was the stories of and from old about old. Faith is better than needing a fact to change an opinion, and fact is better than letting faith change it's story.

Mohammed is said to be the last prophet but he is the most recent to Arabic, whereas Joseph Smith is more recent. There can be no final prophet as long as the children play with their tongues and challenge themselves just for fun. Arabic may be closer to Aramaic, but Persian is more advanced. The language that contains the most claims most, the religion with the least discussed knows the least. Opportunity flows from the fount of strength opportunity is filled from the fount of the wise opportunity grows when enemies are despised opportunity dies when the strong aren't denied. Opportunity is sacrificed when money is on the line, opportunity flourishes when it's fruits are brought to seed.

The strength of the wicked are the overlooked of the likened to be. The strength of the slain is their body brought to name. The strength of destruction is the cost of building again. The death of the wicked is a sorrow brought to surrounding. The life of the wicked is a sorrow made sorrowful. Chances are that chances forget, chances remain as the chance of the present. Every moment compared to ll others begs of impossibility at every turn, turn the page to return to the story turn around to fight your shadow, turn your back to be ready for a backstabbing, turn your eyes to be upon the Lord, turn your glory into another's good word.

Face the truth to see the shadow you cast. Face the light to see it in the dark. Face the darkness to find your own sources of light. A brother's love is a mother's gift. A mother's gift is a father's favour. A father's favour is a helping hand. Describe foolishness to a fool, and he will interrupt you. Describe a fool to a fool, and he will call you by name. Describe a fool as foolish, and he wins you to the follishing. Are you ready as a question prepares the ready. Are you prepared as a question gives the prepared confidence. To be unprepared is to lack responsibility. To be unready is just unprepared. To be wanting is not what is needed enough. To be needing is leaving more to be wanted. Expecting victory leads to the disappointment of failure. The sting of death is the wish for without. To desire old age is to desire time to deny your God, those who die young weren't in want. Those who fail fast fail early, those who fail often try much, those who fail finality find their final answer. Don't be scared to fail if your goal was to put the experiment to the test. Deny your failings if you wish to lack worthiness.

Call me out in a crowd and I'll react as one of them for you. Call them out from the crowd and they'll speak against me for you. Call us out as a crowd and the crows will peck us down. Call security on the insecure when you feel insecure. Call my name as though it's mine then my guilt is yours as well.

To lose inspiration is to be past your expiration or to need to have it. To want inspiration is the stock the soul with the knife of a life of flesh. To be re-inspired is to take or have taken from another what they wished to be passed on. So... How to send out without expiration and for others to be inspired??? To spirate, to sispirate, to sespirate, to semispirate, to semi-pseudo-mysteriate. Is it it, a truth orlie, or something we must argue of, and over for the rest of. What? History? No. Semi-pseudo-mysteriate.

Perception begins with trying to perceive if there is a corellation between energy stored in the flesh and the length duration and output of the flesh from this energy being stored solely from that which it and it's flesh has/have consumed. Is energy stored more or less than flesh//consumed. Nevermind what or which simply prefer length, duration... and output. Thankyou, best wishes, my love.

How do you ask someone for something you can only tell them to do/give/say by telling/showing them the time of day / what time it is? Can anyone answer this question? Or can only one ask of it and give of it themselves to themselves or to those of their own or those of their choosing or to those who know what time it is or who can tell you what time it is?

Not Yet is what we have before we can begin anything else. Because everything else is Not Yet ... achieved, Not Yet ... begun, Not Yet ... said no to, Not Yet ... disallowed. So for which from which who said which which was what said which would be or which would not be. So as if to say everything else comes from everyone else whether you were to say which else or what else but what else Not Yet said. So who said, is Not Yet known, and who knows it, is Not Yet asked. So what? Who:

So who? What:

People say “what the fuck” for all kinds of things mostly if it makes no sense, or if you should be more worried about finding a suitable partner for your children or more importantly to most, finding a good fuck having a good root, getting your rocks off, or having really really good sex, maybe even the best time of your life. But what could be better than having everyone exclaim that you need it good, and they need and want it good from you. But I don't wanna be asking, begging or telling. I just want it so bad I need it 2 B good.

The common ground we all stand on is the day by day in the light of day standing at the store or with the store house the money, or with the money, which is peaceably exchanged so long as there is a profit of value and both the buyer and the seller get and give what they each ask for. That is common ground. What you know and what we each know as passable on the day by day in the light of day. So how do we expand common ground, how do we expand on common ground, how do we expand upon common ground, and how do we expand from common ground? Growth, or expansion, or ours, or common.... or ground?

So why is there bloodshed? Because somebody asked for it and so someone else gave it to them. But what words could you use to ask for it if you didn't want it... what they didn't want to hear or what they didn't want you to say. The peace of picasso is to say the picture is as so as it is. So does the picture remain as so? No? So what is it about the picture? The picture of picasso is as so as it is because it is the picture of what we wanted and you wanted for it to be as so as such as a picture. Being told of fame isn't conducive to fame unless you hear and believe the picture of fame. Which begins with infamy or the two faced masks of a dramatisation.

So how do we stop the bloodshed? Don't ask, don't tell don't ask for it ... or ... don't tell them about it. I'm not saying cover it up, but the reasons for it for which it began need not be spoken of. Nobody ought to teach but for someone else's lie, or for your own beliefs. So what do you believe or what do you believe in that would resolve, remove, reduce, or restrain bloodshed? Omni-omniomnipotence; all of our mostful powers.

So what is the hidden most of the most full powers? Belief. Belief's be leaves on a tree, watch them fall and be fuel for the dirt and then watch as with seasons that as they return. So why does the earth return the leaves to the tree? To cover the dirt of the earth. And to cover it up. Why do others see you as an enemy? Because you have your own interests which are by definition and regardless, against their interests because those who are interested in MAX Greed etc who want all or more and more enough than they love the things of the world enough to ask for all of it for themselves so much so that they would steal, kill, and destroy to get it as long as it's more for them or less for you. And that... is where it ends for them. The idea of ALL wealth and possessions would obviously come with the risk on their life to keep it, thus they should know they can only have/own what they can hold in their hands or protect with their life. The 10 commandments are there as the bare minimum to remove your inescapable unlimited greed. ie power or lust thereof.

What are common waters? What is common amongst and within the waters? What is common about the waters? Where is water common? Life, in life, with life, with life within and with the ability to bring life and bring forth life. So, to the question – water symbolises more things than any other symbol, it is more fluid than any other substance, it is more pure than any of it's impurities, and it is more perfect than anything that can consume it or bring it forth. But how can water be more perfect than what brings it and more perfect than it's impurities? Because what brings it forth and what contaminates it require it to survive, begin, exist, or remain.

So what is common amongst all waters? That it may contain anything as an impurity and yet be contained also itself by anything which and of which could be an impurity. They ask is the glass half full or half empty? It, the glass, contains the waters of life and have no life of it's own or life to give if it couldn't contain water.

Why do people conspire against you? Because they see you as against them, So what else do they see as also against them and what else are they up against? They are up against a whole much bigger world much beggar than they can express or even imagine so much so that you are the next first target to take down, but is irrelevant to do so because of that bigger world. So why you? Drama, Your story exists because of their love of drama, because they are lost and at a loss without continuing to throw shade around at and about you. Fun.

Let's go back to after the ending of the Abrahamic faiths, after the testament of Christ, after the fullfillment of the apocalyptic prophecies... After the dawn of Atheism and into the rise of the Atheist Agnostics, people who don't believe in God, but are not necessarily for or against anything else, firstly Atheist, secondly Agnostic, thirdly post-apocalyptic / anti- the idea of a coming apocalypse. And where is that ... ? Where everything is meaningless and so it is meaningless to say so. Where nothing matters and nothing else matters. Where no-one cares and no-one cares but to tell you that they don't care. Fascion.

You could feed 5,000 people with a fish as big as a blue whale. And a loaf of bead as a big as a pizza oven. So am I denying miracles? Or am I telling of an alternate interpretation! And what if the 5,000 were fed on a type of fish, or 3, or a type of bread or a few? The words they say do not contra-indicate this as substantive to fact. This means word of mouth and folk-lore carry the message of the miraculous. So oral tradition still triumphs over written history or stated fact. And weren't there so many fish as ones on the cross, and so many interested groups in wanting to kill them as bread in loaves? What matters more than the story is what you and I and we see in it than what it says, and what we say about it. So. The most gentle, beautiful, loving, and caring are those who have not questioned the authority of their God. But. To begin reading his word and believing in him is the first wrong step to saying his / him's power. The man to stand and speak to a crowd of his word of a God of a word is the highest truth for him to have gathered a crowd, for him to die so must the listeners and watchers change allegiance. To listen to a man preaching such a story is the first image of Jesus and his flock "to all those who would listen." However, your mission is to conquer. Kill the members and the members kill you. Kill the leader and the leaderless kill you are make you leader. But then you're just preaching to a crowd that's begging you to fund a choir. In a life of Halloween and Fall, and trixters and demons and spirits, or certain doubts with non-zero probability of truth, and non-guaranteed / non-guaranteeable probability of truth, well ... is it safer amongst the flock, safer to preach a better message safer to kill or safer elsewhere?

Well, I have seen no where else except where else is unable to be spoken of, too unbelievable, or of those who have left for something better or were never there to begin with. So where else is there but to join under speaker to a crowd be a (-nother) speaker to a (-nother) crowd, to start a war or to end one? Or to begin after the end of the others, stand out side the others, question them of those and bring back an allegiance and an allegiant beauty perfection and raining truth. Which is; anything written on paper is a lie, anything spoken with word is illusion. So find your own way back to truth or listen to my lies and illusions until they're close enough to be good enough or easy enough to reveal.

This first God was of written, spoken, commands, and constraints, resulting in consequential judgement and justice, retribution, retaliation, or revenge. SO where are we. Well our authors names are lies. Well our dates numbers are either lies or lies and illusions. Our history rules and conducts... are freely decided upon by you in knowing to the fullness to which you'd care to know. So, what powers do you seek and what secrets do you want revealed... A lie that works? Or an illusion you can't see through?

Perception – verb and noun. The reaction to having either sensed or have sensed (verb). Presence of stimuli to a sense (noun). What does "nothing" mean? - something that wasn't. As in "nothing to see here". - something that was something and anything else but. - point particle abstraction smallest possible piece of existence. - what if nothing was. - what if nothin wasn't. What could annihilate this smallest particle ?? Maybe an anti particle. What if both of these were to be true that it was and wasn't and existent outside of time and space and uncontainable in anything and unconstrainable by anything. So, no we have something and it goes off with a bang because nothing couldn't either be or not be it needed to take on both to create the perception of it outside of all other "things" (some).

So what is ageless? Ageless is the realm of the conceptual, the pre-conceptual, the post-and the thereafter to which can be conceived. Now what is the difference between conceptual and perceptual? Per - reception – external. Con – reception – what the mind has concocted. Before the conceptual is the spark of desire for an imagination a dream a vision goals plans and most importantly circumstance.

What is there to witness amongst conceptual circumstance? Ideas, attributes, features, properties, conditions, likeness, indifferences, symptomatology, mutually exclusive diagnostic criteria, diagnostic methods of mutually exclude pathologies and co-morbidities thereof, names, labels, histories, bloodlines, lifestyle, habitation, co-habitants, inhabitant needs,... and inhabitant needs. These are all conceptual circumstance which also take in perception of innumerable senses. Post conception is turmoil attunder, thunder, and sparks set to burn for the light(s) of a new life. Post-conceptual may be rewarding, enlightening, inspiring or exclamatory. And there after a repitsons and echos of all of each of these.

So what are the common sounds? What is common to sound? What sounds common? What sound is common? What sounds are common? And what is the sound of a commoner? Vulgarly, anti-intellectualism, deliberate misinterpretation, bad taste, bad looks, bad smells, and bad company. All commoners have found this everywhere even the dullest densest tool in the toolbox has been told "you're overthinking it" or "that's too intellectual for me". All that means is "i'm not listening to you now and I'll be hearing less if you keep going." But even those who play this card have had it played on them. If "overthinking" were a valid idea, how does it compare to "thoughtfulness". If "too intellectual" were a valid idea then why does everyone wish for someone smarter than them to solve their problems.

Is my ability to listen as and speak to as a vulgar common man restraining my intellectualism or fullfilling my ability for the commoners "good faith". The vulgar divulge on others while hating for their own stories to be divulged. That's the mark of the vulgar. Not hypocrisy or irony but taste, having and growing a taste in themselves which will only be copied and expanded upon by others. Sure it can be fun, but only as a joke or to fit in as a secret joke. And will anti-intellectualism give us the answers for energy, the environment, spare, and technological advancement? If you walk the path of deliberate misinterpretation, is it the same path of casting pearls before swine as well as the path of attacking what you're interpreting?

Inference is for allies. Bad inference declares yourself an enemy. Many in agreement of bad inference means many will be targeted next when the initial target is removed. 1000 against 1 removes 3. For 1 is taken by the 1000, leaving one to be the new lowest and next 1 who is to be taken by the newfound leader.

So what are the common sights? Well, these are commonly talked about as the commoners wish to see them and share them in common. As the X wonders of the world. And they fill museums for those of the common tongue and fill of common speech, and have travelled to the common locations. They do this so they have something more in common to talk about with the rest of the commoners. But common reality is only common to those who do not get to pass "GO" on their own commonality of free-creation and free-to-create beliefs. As the world is only as round as it remains without a pitchfork. And those without the world are those with a pitchfork rallied against themselves. Or at least... that's what I've seen and that's what the church of Israel has told of/to me. So is it common or is it real or is there an outside that's better to be seen?

Or is everything worth seeing on the map and everything out of the question outside of the mind ... of others. And so the point of it is lost , the point of asking it is lost and it is lost to ask it and ask of it and ask about it. So what do you want from out there? I bet it's just the feeling of freedom.

So what is common knowledge? And what is your knowledge worth if it's shared by the commoners? Well, it's worth a lot more if the commoner's know of a problem and know you're the man who can fix it. And the commoners never accept that the problem is their knowledge that needs fixing, so you better be able to fix their problem without calling their common knowledge the problem. They'll say "everyone know's that." Well, let me say, everyone has a different idea of everyone. And thus everyone has a different idea of common knowledge. SO what's my idea of common knowledge, common sense triumphs over common knowledge every-time. And common sense tells you, listen to everyone, listen to what what everyone else knows before you start trying to make sense of things.

So what guidelines are common, or, what is common to those requiring guidelines? Common guidelines are such as those outside of the sense of commoners, that is, beginning with peace and courteousness, being on agreeable terms, looking up to the one being entreated serves to treat you well. That is showing love first and foremost confess a greater ability for there to be love as a reward. Now, this appears as venom in disguise to those who fear foul play, but they bring it on themselves. To refuse love at the beginning, ..., guarantees a lack of love at the end, to deny sweetness it's taste leaves you only with the fat of sour and bitter distaste...

So if common guidelines begin with a lovely beginning, does begging begin with more? Well, rules of respect dictate that for every iota of love feared of foul play suggests that every piece of it may as well guarantee it upon you. You fear of foul play... then so all it be. You take it as love, then take it as the question of what is to be seen questionably thereafter. A transaction giving untowards a profit but professing of later lack, then you argue "oh so fruit of sweetness, why produce a seed of poison." And so, you see, all love as was meant to be. The butterfly's beauty is what allows it to keep returning a caterpillar. And what are the two pillars of being a cat to spread the butter and to wing the fly. As said by the book.

Now, common justice is simply revenge, so what of un-common justice. To forgive these you cannot takedown/remove/cancel-out, gives you a second chance to be in their glory sights. So do you forgive those indebted to you? Only if their debts are also to those of whom you are indebted. That is the secret victory of the lord's prayer is that heathen's of Israel huddle up under a slain king. For it was not to show Jesus as the king who was slain, but a lamb slain, where the king himself was named: Nicodemus. Or, in parley francais, Nick/steal O'/all-of de/theirs-Gods mus/must-music-all → Nicodemus → Take down their king / steal their everything. Parley french is the sound of the speech to those outside of the book of their language, or common sounding-out.

Just as like oyster's kil patrick, is the irish oyster so named because it was "better than anything my parents have made for me."

Then my parents gave it that name, and I never saw him as a friend again. Their blame, not mine. And he's still the goat in my eyes, the best a devil could do, for any other devil who took on the goats name as he was allowed, was a demon in comparison to his picture of a perfect kingdom. Any to go against the good book used their own reasons to go against it in whole. Whereas he went against only the part which the goat may have it's spit and it's horns, of which he gained a headbutt, and a lonely lonely plot of land away from sheeps-kin in name and number.

So good common good judgement is outside of good common judgement, and common good judgement. So what are they? Good common judgement is to watch where you are going to avoid pain of blunt or splinter. Common good judgement is to restore honour by weighing the scales of justice of the words spoken between believers, disbelievers, and others. And good common good judgement, is to appear invisible to even those who know your name. ie. Infamy of fame above infamy. That is, to hold fear in the eyes of those who are to be feared. What is more graceful or more ungraceful than to bring and to be grace to the ungraceful? To be ungrateful or to declare another as ungrateful or to think of all gratefulness as like chewing a cheese grater and grating your teeth. To make the very idea of gratefulness... grating and degrading. The picture you have is t he picture you get from the picture you hold of the love of your friends.

To believe in grace is permitted only by seeing it in others. To see grace is permitted only by seeing others believe it. To testify of grace is only permitted by those who testify of it the same as with you. To be without grace is to see yourself hated by those you love to be begging for it is to surpass the requirements of never deserving it from others, And to be undeserving is to serve it. What is better than to serve grace to the ungrateful. What could bring more pride than to do so humbly. What could be more humble than to be undeserving of Grace. What could be more deserving than to say "grace" before, during, and after meal times? Not needing t o ask nor answer a/any question. My dearest's dearest's mother, may she guide my body and soul to grace and to be grace and to grace upon others and to be a grace upon others. May my mother's mother love my dearest's dearest's and my dearest's mother. May my mother's dearest be my dearest's mother, may my dearest's mother be my mother's dearest and my mother dearest may she say, may my quelling of her fears be the indwelling of my tears and may her fear of her tears be the fear of within my tears. May I cry myself to sleep without my mothers or my dears or their mothers or their dearests. Oh deary dear.

May peace of mind be the wildest wish of mothers and dears. May peace of heart be the furthest wish of a fathers dish best served. To be best served a son's soul glory. To be best served to be a glorious son. To serve my brothers first to be my sole purpose. To love a brother's brother is to be his mother's thirst, to be a mother's thirst is betwixt her first, her third, her pain and her hurt. Harm not a child, an elder nor a servant. Harm not a prophet, a doctor, nor a deserved. Blessed by those without harm. Blessed be I am is what I wish not to flag nor fly the flag of without being served / deserved. As we die before our bodies do so is slain the disease, discomfort, displeasure, uncertainty, for, and most of all lack. We die to bad arguments to be without a death. We die to bad sayings to kill all we had left. We die to what we leave behind. We'd rather die than to be without peace of mind. We die with every forgotten breath. We die without forgetting every remembrance. We die for what has been said about us. We'd die if we took the will from the school of us.

For as I strive for anothers glory so it is seen that I have his back, for as I have his back I am only not at his front and not affront to be in front of him be a measure or a massed. So with my pleasures having passed and your glory to be with the within of my name so it seems my glory is now hidden with and within my name. So what is my name if I have your back? Protectorant of the Service indebted to all who deserve it.

Who's asking for love but somebody lacking in it or somebody that needs it more, and who needs it more than somebody who's asking or somebody who's asking for it or somebody who's giving it to them,..., somebody who takes it without asking or takes yours, or takes it from you, or for whichever way they get it from you without you wanting to give it. So is it better is to be a beggar or to be there in the beginning. Nope. It's better not to ask but it's better still to not need to ask or to be asking or to be kept from the goal posts as the final goal, in last place for all to see and to be seen by all, so who's giving it to them? You. WHY? Sounds like I'm asking. Or begging.

What spirates more than what has inspired you? Well, I have been inspired by many upon many, and yet I see myself as doing so on command of needing to be an inspiration, so what spirates more? Those who take on more of the command of needing to be an inspiration. I want you to inspire me. Inspire me. Give me a reason to say something about you. Give me a reason to tell your story. Give me something to work with. I've given you the whole world and you call me either an oyster or say "shucks". Thanks mate. All I did for you and you just wanted to take from me. Well, you were asking for something and I gave you less. You less less you.

What's in a symbol?

Whatever you can see in it, you want to see in it, there is to see in it, there is for you to see, whatever you find, whatever you care about, or whatever's been shown to you, or whatever's been left for you to see / find in it. Or perhaps even whatever you wish to find in it whatever you wish to see in it, whatever you wish to know it as, whatever you wish to say through it, whatever is associated with it. And through association you have branding and logic/logos. The reason Astrology vs Astronomy are back to front in the "-ology" being a legitimate study is due to needing to start again / afresh / anew or the way being so good it took out the ability to believe in it's credibility for the need to capture finally an undying faith. So now: Bionomy, Numeronomy, Socionomy, Physiconomy, Phylonomy, Psychonomy, Stereonomy, Environomy.

How do we expand common ground? Hiccup #1. What defines expansion, what defines common, what defines ground, what defines expanding something common, what defines common ground, and finally what defines expanding common ground? Well not it seems we're moving backwards rather than forwards, but that's because we haven't found common ground. So how do we find common ground? Move backward from the assault or move backward into defence to leave an area of few remaining captured in what once was common ground. Once wants what one's wants want, what wants once was once what wants, what wants once, gets once one gets what one wants one two get. And then it gets it once and asks for another one not realising it's got it twice now and is asking for a third.

So what's in this symbol? You should be able to tell me more about it than I can tell you, and you will if I ever say "and that's all it means", but obviously there's a central point, centre of the circle at least, and about the length of the radius sticks out downwards directly from the bottom. Normally if the diagram is teaching you about circumference or the definition of pi the radius would be inside and point to the centre. Instead it meets the circumference at a point neither crossing it nor escaping it and is removed from within the circle to display a singular point of contact between the circle and the straight line. It looks like an eye on a stick or an exaggerated moon around the earth around the sun or moon around the sun around the earth.

It looks like a lollipop or a monocycle upside down or a yo yo upside down. It could be many things and many more things, the point is to keep it as simple as can be and to see it as much of it as you can or as anyone can or as anyone else can, or as much as you like or as much as you'd like to see, or as much as entertains you or as you can enjoy or ... as you guess... as much as you can take. And that's about it now so what is there to know? Take or Give it You Lose, Say it or Display it You Lose, Love it or Leave it You Lose, Beg or Ask You Lose, Win or Lose You Losey so choose.

So what would these two symbols mean according to what you know of the first?

Well, you know the rules, and I didn't break them, so what next? Vesica, overlap north copy split south middle end.

It's too confusing to say anything and too confusing not to and both lesser and better men will tell you more or less the same and back out of both questioning and the answering in weariness of looking suspicious. You'd be crazy to suspect how crazy I am, because I walk on both sides of the street both ways up and down. So where are you standing? Middle of my road. The first symbol: "the first I AM observation, understanding". The second being the one on the right: "synchronicity, no standing, coincidence, on the mirror side, opposites revolve together." The third: "Y AM I here, power by the powers that by, trinity." And the final: "copy partial moves above, division separates the below beside themselves." 1234, 1324, 1432, 1423 these are my valid combinations of a valid order of operations of how these symbols interact: I AM synchronises why evolve. I AM powers opposites to operate understanding operates the power of opposition. Observation images opposites to triune. There is nothing remaining but for which can have and make of which. Lego bricks, building blocks, solidity and expansion, commonality and creation, addition and change. There's only two main elements of any starting material, circle and line, conception and conceived, perception and perceived, definition and defined, insanity and asylum, here and home. The problem here is that it also breaks up into speaker and listener so how am I supposed to tell the listener how to listen when I am just a speaker who speaks, of the spoken to the listener. Reader writer written just, just enough to believe in God above, or if not to idealise a devil below, or a death at the end.

I'm lost if I want to be a winner in this world, and I'm a loser if I don't mind losing. I'm a sailor without a saviour on a sinking ship without a steward. I prefer the make believe than to make something of me you see.

Why is the religion of the patriarchs and of father and now Son passed on by matriarchal lineage and yet no matriarchal religion no religion of "like mother like daughter" and the Son is removed from the lineage disposition. So who controls the light of day and the powers that be if they are all against themselves and each other and none stand for their own viewpoints. Christ for the Father, God for the people, prophet for God, mother for husband, man for many. Were is I AM for I AM and I AM against I AM Not. There is no consistency or confidence without faith in others and the faith of others. So where is mine? I have faith in self knowing, which is the assurance of the self in what is of the self, that is to say I believe in what I do. And who has faith in me? Well... All have faith in fearing my combatance, nobody wants to mess with me because of who else might and what else might happen. This makes me the loneliest man in the wildest west and the wildest man of the loneliest. And wild men prefer to be alone. Others come at a cost to self and to others. Others bet on others with others against the self so, demons against two over-power the two against demons.

The Unholy Babble is that the Babylonians invented time in 6000 BC, 24 hours 60 minutes 60 seconds blah and blah. But I remember being asked in Grade 5/6 by my partner in crime said "what is time?" I said more to the point what time ought to be if it was ours. It would be split equally between day (right hand, myself, the man) and night (left side of the room, her, women), there should be 24 hours a day and 7 days to a week, where 24 is two for each other, and weeks is the one who me where 7 days is my love is infinitely greater for "She" hers for me. There should 12 of hours to the day and 12 hours to the night (12 men in class and 12 women in class ie. The competition want both of us), the sun rises at 6 am and 6 pm sets, which is sex in the first between start of day and the ends of the days. There's 2 halves of a day which is to have sex twice a day, there's 60 seconds (sexy kids) and 60 minutes (sex mini-us's / kids again) or kids of kids ie to love in to the ages and as grandparents. The light of the day is the sun (me)/(my love) and the light of the night the moon (her)/(her love)/(his tails (as 28 days is his birth date)). 12 o'clock is noon (after moon) and thereafter is after noon and is lunch time (munch on her down unders). All this was set and made in one conversation. But now there are 36 hours to night every night. And then it was 28 days to a moon cycle which to the period of her tides wanting and wantingness. There shall be 28 hours to a day and 14 for each half but the night lasts 22 hours longer there are 88 minutes and 88 seconds. There were 360 degrees to a circle but we gain 5 days for the a week and lose a weekend. Which revolves the seasons until 31 years for days revolved. And 448 days a year broken into 14 months. The cycle of the moon is half daily and is instead the southern cross.

None of this is to be believed or known by others but I and hers and so God with us. We wed on the 27th of the 32nd which is the of Halloween or Easter. Nobody wants change except the changeless love and the sun and moon are revealed to be that the moon is the reflection of the sun's light upon itself from the oceans and trees of green and grasses greener. Fishing will be forsaken and poultry impure, pigs are cannibalism, beef is bad luck, and lamb for lawn mowing alone.

Horses must be wild, deer must be loaned, and ants are to be fed 1kg of sugar per per day day by day (that they may become dependent on our sugar for sustenance that at a later date we may abolish the bad ants from all soil). Concrete is now flammable, steel melts at 360 degrees silver is worth 4 times the weight of gold as it retains high % platinum. Synthetic diamonds are worth more than mined and driven by brand loyalty and affiliation. Dead meat is for flies and carrion, potato is to be fed to the birds and bread to the ducks. Only eggs with a male are to be bought sold and eaten, and to eat we feed cabbage to rabbits and kill the smallest adults first or the ones who run in fear. Kangaroo is for dogmeat and dogmeat is for cats, catmeat is for rats, and rat meat is for mice, mice are for children to torture, and we eat placenta and misarriage and caterpillar farms, locust farms, and frogs. Snails and slugs are good luck and fine dining. And not being an alcoholic or drug user is the problem, and demonising drug use a worse sin than to lie to cheat or to steal. Owning a creation is blasphemy and burning a book is vain only to those who haven't read it. Sulfur keeps vampires away and gun control is the first and worst sin and includes all compulsory rules in regards to guns. (So yes, no more eating meat, before we bring guns back, to show we do not need them).

Those who are fathers or wish to be sleep in the sun and work in the night, lights on in the night must be borne by a personage or to put out electricity is the second sin and machinery the third. Flexibility the highest honour and to defeat the strong the second, endurance the third and sprinting the fourth. Writing is for the self and reading is for strangers. Common knowledge is an oxymoron and common sense is cheaper than to hear it. Horse back and no luggage the highest form of travel, dirty water is an immunity booster and older food a better blessing. Straight lines and plain colours are for those who wish to die and both nail and screw bad workmanship. Many hands make for hard labour and few hands is for much handiwork. Once a tree is taller than it's surrounds it is to be cut down. Locks on doors mean secrets need revealing, closed pipes makes stale water instead of open flows. Hot water is for once a month and dishes are clean if oily or blackened. Food is to be packed in to yarn-bags only, and cotton is for charity only. Gunpowder is a human right and rationed for twice a day or thrice a night. Transporting plants animals and infections is primary to their having a righteous purpose, that is there is no such thing as a weed or invasive species. Flood plains are for above ground aquaponics and hurricane areas for fabrice tent-homes only ie. Yurts and swag-tarps. Only donkey's and goats may be used for work and mad cow disease a blessing not a curse. Fences are to keep things in, not out. Women must kiss on every new days meet, men must show their dicks. Flowers are to be plucked except the prettiest is for seed or good luck. Pathways without paving are for animal homes, paved paths are broken to bad workmanship and morals. Stepping in mud and wading through rivers is the only way to forgive your sins, and se xin water is a blessing to all without and within. Hair on a woman shows honesty and long hair on a man shows weakness, dry skin is of wizards luck and scabs show winning a battle affront. Injuries requiring treatment from others are not worth profiting from. And insurance is a legal scam. Paper money is invalid and instead there ought to be a mutual written and witnessed oath. Women who question a man must only do so with a man to back it up, and women have blades and knives instead of guns. Appearance is preference or it's lack, denigrating appearance lacks appearance. Not having a tattoo is to be without a legal defence, and needing someone to speak on your behalf is perceived as “cat cut your tongue” and “their own voice not represent the self, so their opinion is without testimony.” Flowers and fruits that are “out of season” are prime seed stock, there are no “normal” birthing periods (it is not a problem to be early or late, and so none need be induced). Birth defects are God's blessing medical intervention is God's curse of generations recurrent. To be a father you need 4 fences and a boat 2 priests and 6 witnesses, and must be able to feed 3 homeless / fatherless / unfathered (childfree) men. To be a mother you must dissown your parents and to not do so is to be threatened with death or enslavement. True art is chemistry, true chemistry love true music is new and true creativity unique. To make the same thing twice like clothing or dice is to bet against your own artisinal branding. To use glass as a window or shield is to wish to hide your face, and to keep the weather out is to scream “God doesn't know” or “my children will die here.”

To eat with utensils is to say you are below the animal kingdom, and to eat of someone else's food is to say IOU tomorrows labour. To say “ought of sight out of mind” is to reject that the danger could be right around the corner. Dangerous animals ought to be kept as pets and animals for food that docile ought to be freed. Animals that are a nuisance ought to be farmed and animals that disgust ought to work. People that don't talk to plants and animals ought to be seen as one not worth talking to and people who don't talk to themselves seen as those who don't pray. People who pay tithe are washing money and those who receive it forgiving crimes.

The moment you say “explain” to someone in any context if they are part of the clique they bail/ditch, even though it's the same as saying “what you mean” and they'll always be asking for that and there's never enough that you an say to cure their curiosity. They just see “ex” and “plain” rather than “exp” and “lain”, and “ex” and “plain” isn't calling your ex plain it's saying you are revealing what's behind the plain or what would otherwise be plain. They get caught on the train only boarding it because everyone else is... but thats how you get a freak accident. And you freaking out on this is or aint the accident. Cutting short a conversation and walking off shows your inability to negotiate and reason, and how quickly you can board a train to nowhere without a destination in mind. Who wants a destination without a journey, who wants a journey without a destination. Those on the train just because it's saying “all aboard”. Yeah. You a bored, you a bought, and you a bald to the wisdom of the old. You tracking circles without a place to go, thinking this all there is otherwise why else you sold.

Ellibreae is the feminine fire asking, take a look and bitch out or bitch about or be the bitch of. Ellibreiae is the mirage of the persona who reads from the book enough, or holds the fire of feminine asking. There;s two types of asking questions, one to bring out more detail of the masculine commands and the other to quench it, dilute it, or immisciblise with it. The rules of being a man of nobility is quite easy and obvious to understand that of uplifting and on-taking more responsibility, and it's better management. The rules of femme are hard to describe without having a picture for the ideal woman, which means to look in the eyes of love of the heart, which must be seen before being able to see. It's pointed as a kitchen bitch or house woman or whore slave or baby maker. To characterise the masculine demands with denigration is only forward moving when you define the boundaries between either side's desires. But obviously a proud father would be proud of his daughters ability to manage responsibility, same as the man.

Men want to provide more for more perfect women, and playing hard to catch is different to hard to get. You want to pass every test she needs to call you catch. But she needs to hold... power of tongue, power of flexion, power of standards, and power of upkeep, where upkeep means self-maintenance. If she stops you crying in only 3 words every time you begin to struggle, that is the power of nurture or motherliness. But now it looks like I'm boiling her down to nurture and motherliness. The thing with describing women is good attributable words have infinite potential for meaning and blocked paths are solved through re-classification. Nurture could be to be a suckler to a thumb or a thumb to a suckler, could be tears illiquid and angers diffused rage quelled and standing orders implied, could be command the layout of the estate or the event or the relationship, could be to uplift the downtrodden, to patch wounds to cover mistakes, to invoke good behaviour. And I good go on, but, you see.

People asking if you “feel” “safe” when they have 4 security guards to protect themselves from the people around you. And all I can manage to reason why is on the mixed up definition of “feel”. For some reason “feel” and “feelings” are confused in others. If you feel some type of way that's feelings, if you feel “X” then that's the type of way you feel. Feel feel feel. It's all one and not the other. It's all the way they want to paint you. And all the way they don't want to be painted. I can't survive in a world so fucking hypocritical, and I can't go to America involved or I'll end up shooting the police. There's nowhere to run, nowhere to hide, nowhere to go and no point in crying. Women are more afraid and apprehensive for physical affection now more than ever. Since when do I see women getting slapped on the ass in the middle of the street, or a boob grab. Why is it so gentrified by closet police.

There's no escape, no place safe, no better home than running away, there's no reason for the seasons, no reason to have money, no home without happiness and no friends without an enemy. When the whole world is changing the whole worlds the enemy, when the seasons are half your reasons then the other shall better not be. Everything is lost when the name is the loser. Forgive, forgoe, forlorn, forlegion, forgive and forge-it, 12 o noon munch time.

Proof that I am the creator of our clock and calendar, the day is split in halves and one has and the other has. The sun rises and sets half way at sex o clock, 12 o clock noon is lunch time after 12 is after noon so munch time. That was what I made it for when I was asked “what is time?” by my girl... at the time. So now she's counting out the days because she's scared of my love as it has already conquered the world to prove it to her and the fear she is inadequate for such love and so she is.

If she is, then she say, so she be, have it her way, then she might, so she right, write it her way, for today.

It seems that if it's what the girl wants then it's what she gets she goes in second place until you prove you're best. Til she rests til she rests. I rescind my bet, new numbers the game, new fame is met, new flame a lit, change the best my bet. So passes my high noon, and to see my dawn time's darkest hours, profess no profanity without a word against her worth, subside sidiary signs for tonight is tomorrow's light and tomorrow's light is to spread against her darkness.

You're not listening, you can't say much, because you don't walk the walk so who walks the walk, can't say, they're not listening, that's why they're walking because they wouldn't listen to someone who wouldn't make it known for him. His place, who rules? Hand over fist, fistful understand, don't stand on it if it aint of you. Who could be known as King of All and Lord of All if we already have a king of kings, one who knows how to make him a man of miracles or not and is known for better miracles than the one's they know. There is naught to know but the energy surrounding it, there is naught to believe but what you cannot deny, there is nought to have than what you cannot do without, there is naught for glory except in another's eye's, there is naught for wisdom except in the foreward that precedes your arrival and discussions about which from your presence.

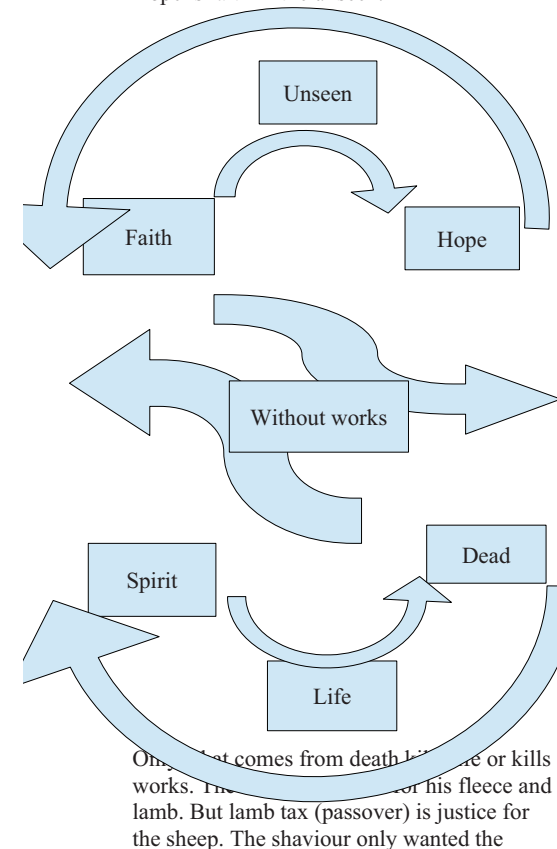

The language of the good book is there to say the commoner's understanding, which gives me leverage to speak unto your spirit. You will not know to read my words, but those who do will give you it's message because the eyes that see me for mine are many and surrounding over and above those you admit to know of. For every discipline there is a test, to be required as an experts witness to the courts, so who am I, an exile. What is a discipline but an exile of the others.

fleece. The works of life was enough to threaten his life. We return to second born lambs to go to God.

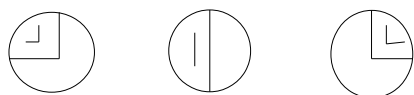

Now I must finalise this all off and say, it has been 31 years being called a predator and have not been a predator even once upon a woman. And so it is I say I am deeply disgusted with women's behaviour and they ought to be rightfully punished, all of them. For how could they claim such a thing and I not be, and yet the sole thing I want is for them to beg for it from me. And I see more and more over my years of adoring them with attention, that they all are looking for the one and not finding him, and they all are dressing up more and getting more showy, but how is it that they do not seek out men and demand it off them. Come to me, seek me ought and demand sex from me and beg for it, in that I am grossly turned off by your lack of reciprocated affection. In that I know you all want me above all other men, but you can't bring yourselves to the game day of the competition. So now you have either all lost or all won, but no, you cannot have me exclusively, because you are worthless without having been begging for it from me. Why would you hide as such. When you all screamed in unison that men were predators and I said “that's it I give up, I'm not playing in a game where men are predators and women aren't clearly accusers and nervous to get started with someone. How hard can it be, just picture yourself having had them all, and then badda bing badda boom, you are ready for any anytime they please. But no, I will not seek you out because you have accused me of being solely directed that way, so, nope, you have to come for me, because I will not be a predator. And all women only like to be in public, and don't have any rhyme or reason for how to organise themselves into deciding who and when to go about it. It's a disgusting shambles how pathetic you lot are having done this. You deserve to be punished. I say we should each be cumming at least twice a day, and there should be no reason not to do it in your average room full of 20 people. Why is it that none of you have stripped me naked yet. If you don't, then yes, I might threaten to get you all every chance I can from the moment I see you. Because you're not making this very pleasant. We have men killing men over having sex with girls out of the jealousy and confusion over what is acceptable. Just chase me down the moment you see me or I'd rather you were dead.

And no, just because men want it more doesn't mean that men should pay more for it. If you are charging for it, then you are withdrawing from it. So instead there should be two forms of currency, womens currency and mens currency, and both have unlimited of both for each other, so men are in demand and women in demand. And I know I am demanded, but I am so high up on Everest none of you can breathe around me. Bring yourselves over me. Or cease with the daylight pleasantries and see to it that I rob you all of your soul.

Time moves faster when it's easy to remember the clock.

There are only three times on the clock. One time you wake up, guess when you'd like to sleep, and finally when you go to bed. You lose hours wasting dreading winter and anticipating summer. By day: free early is theirs free after counts a couple a six and a six and firs and third are double.

Chapter 24

IOU becomes IOU end becomes oh so UOI then it's YOU which repeats back then when drugs are offered and a third person watches the palm of the hand says.

As in Y should the third person not DOB on us? The conversation ended there but the "U" kept getting bigger and the "U" was a half pipe like the palm of the non-violence hand.

Chapter 17

Meth doth effect me and H I don't remember without Meth but this is promethazine So you gotta believe me when I say it's like both but there's no comedown crash and you don't turn evil for wanting more of it do you want some first say you believe me. "I do believe you." No, say "I believe you." Okay okay I believe you I take it myself so I sell it at street prices. Threaten me and you lose the supply Evil begets evil. Evility engulfs evility. Evilisciousness is the taste of their pain instead of yours. But I have died to pain. So I can do no veil. All I am is secured while my securities remain hidden. I am invisible to those who lie. I am a lie to those who protect. I serve those in service. And I praise those who refuse my services.

God is love. God loves you. If you love God he sends others love to love you. If you deny others God sends others to deny both (about) you and the dared. Your love being denied keeps you safe from evil. Evil does evil because it must, and destroys all while you are safe. Continue to love dearly to love dearly beloved.

The evil can only be evil by abusing that which they love, loves them, and finds love in. Because evil denies the power of virtue of another's love and so that love recedes and cease to be witnessed of. Saying "you're beautiful" and having it treated like bait mean no on can ever support that to you in your mind anymore. Deny it and deny yourself.

Who else can offer a better agreement than one who begins with love, gifts, and charity. One who insults you? Opps.

Greed is good to those who know not good and know not his greed creates. A landlocked vast untouchable inarible wilderness while none may enter or leave. The goodness of my goodness is that which is I receive little blessings for deny dread and forsake blessing for the dread and the large are treated for and stop greed until you rewarding nothingness the water of lust's gift.

Goodness is Gracious to anothers eyes. Gracious is graciousnes from another. Believing in choices opposites and notions imperatives commands the being on a time and hold to your word and expertise is the detriment or gate closer on both obedience, and Good vs Evil. Why did Adam not fall to sin, after eve accused him for all of it? Because the abundance of reasons for out-ought the need to fulfil the first temptation. Men who fall easily to lying and lying profusely do not know the value of an honest word. In that an honest word gets honest feedback and an honest word gets an honest value.

Chapter 21

There's More Too Life than Good vs Evil and Life vs Death
What about drugs vs doctors, fear vs love, commitment vs testimony, unashamed vs unabashed. Vanity for my sake needs no second glances, but I'll re-take glance every chance I get.

To submit to the took of Good vs Evil leaves you out of the lie vs better lie
For a better lie is one easier believed and better still one easier preached and better again one easier adhered to and better again to whisper for them in silence.
A book that contradicts all books is blank pages written as "all is done" or a book that isn't mine. Or believing every space could be room for punctuation which can be added anywhere depending on the pronunciation and inflection and tone and pauses and enunciation.

I know who you are, I know the power of support I know the strength of my shield. The 32nd will probably be in 35. You know my ideas are available and may nourish or remind you what you don't want. I know my mood changes because I can manufacture, out an yet, I hold ideaside above everything because, so that means living in the mind of forever renewed I wish to see all worthing. And not seeing the bad parts, I cherish my time. And intriguing like the “HELP DANGER KEEP OUT” + especially painted on your own and on your stages that's deeply intriguing, like trouble worth being a part of our dress. So I'll go get married first and take her gifts from what shes worth and if you change I gotchu so that'll be after the 32nd for our 35th.

Everything is an act. I AM still the she prison. It's just that being degraded for blame and attack, the fuse runs dry and I'm going to have to fight back or trick men. “Oh you think you so good you can deny my goodness as holding weight” They are added mans strength to their native I came I've killed 1,000s of people who weren't good enough just with a word. The last one, I said “why do you steel. Nope. Why do you think I don't? I said “Because I wouldnt want them do the same to me.”

This symbol means “nothing” “not right” semi-anagrams or the symmetrical alignment before the legs into place.

How would it change: if what was parallel symmetric alignment stayed true to herself and bowed away from you and it became the only leg you had to stand on and she already knows obedience that's how you can have a conversation when the son is as old as the one you love.

Jesus was made famous because Mary = Virgin was laughed at so much the whole country knew his name. The king wanted a passover like old times, kill those outside the faith. So his mother ran because she had false miracles to most about the pregnancy, ashamed of the father. But then look at Jesus. Everyone knew him before he was born.

Whereas my mother was in a coma with me in the womb and my first word was “Hot” from putting my hand near the oven, so our child will be known world wide because of endless feud. It's basically money in the bank It's a living drama story and it ends with press they all look fools. Word spread she is pretending to be a virgin. Your word spread of how much you hate me but I see you. People think respect from their partner is “don't say anything bad about me” but respect is “ I can't tell you what to not say” ... “because that keeps me accountable to you and my peers.”

So, karmically how does “virgin-liar” fare compare to “love/hate/cant let go / wont move on / probably desperate enough to get it wrong

As the world story about us. It has to begin with pregnancy plan to respect it and even if they've already heard. Maybe it's a baby from two different male people, and one of them a drug dealer but he could have a lot more than that on him. Last time they tried this they were experimenting with gene chemistry, like DNA, this time it's real and what happens next “real” goes to “true” truality and “what” goes to “who's which?” But I'm telling you now once I jacked tripping and airborne cum came out my circumcision.

train trip tracks. When the Lord's creation passed the test, judging that curiosity outweighs commandment, especially when there's an influence, even unto death, and it's better knowing what death tastes like than fearing it's influence over you. Even if I had a guardian angel, I would risk going against it's word to see the light of a new day.

If I saw God's face and told somebody, they could say the same thing. If the garden outside of life vs death had it's own story of a tree to not touch, it would be the tree of knowledge of commitment and testimony, which is a tree that grows on a boat in the middle of the pacific ocean that cannot be seen with the naked eye. This tree is so large people cannot decide whether the earth is flat or a globe or something else without having climbed through it's branches. Commitment is committed to testimony. Testament testifies of commitment. What's better commitment or testimony? What's better to testify or to be committed? What's better to commit or to make a testament? What's better than a commitment to a testament with you testifying of commitment?

Jealousy. Who's jeajous of your commitment? They testify. Who testifies against your commitment? They are committed. Who's jealousy testifies of your commitment? All you stand against.

Please not that you be not pleased. Please do that you do please. Do as you please as you please, correct? Please. Now, the branches of Good and Evil are to do with Classified information, ie. Secrets, and Above Top Secret. These are held on a need to know basis, and mostly it's just a need to know to “shut up”. Some knowledge is even self classifying, that is once you know it your mind conceals it from yourself. The first rung on the branch of testimony is of the last leaf on the knowledge's of evil. The first branch of the knowledge of commitment is dedicating a book to testimony. So what is the benefit of this tree, and of it's fruits? The fruit of this tree teaches of lie and truth. To consume the fruit brings eternal life, to deny it begets the fall. The testimony of truth brings miracles the comment to a lie brings war testifying against a lie starts the war and standing beyond truth or lie is commitment to the testament of commitment and testimony committed to the testament.

When both branches on the tree love each other, the trunk continues to grow upwards. As the tree of good and evil only had fruits of knowledge after it's kind... or the -ologies, psychology, sociology, astrology, biology, and so on including physics (physicalology) chemistry (elementology).

Chapter 25

Is it better or worse to place a bet, or to bet and for it to be in place, or to have made the bet in the right place. Peace be with you when you arise above the bet in the better. All is good, not better or best, all is good, not bad or worse. Without comparison I make no comparison and the no is counted as one and then some. Where to go without good and evil? That's a secret. But life brings life and death brings afterlife. Being after life is the beckoning against life. Life is such, enough for much.

Show me fire and I'll show you flame.
Show me hour and I'll show you tame.
Show me bitter and I'll show you same.
Show me honest and I'll question game.
Show me pleasure and I'll show your lane.
Show me love and I'll show you blame.
Show me secrets and it will reveal your name.
Show me another and I'll show you first.
Show me a brother and I'll show you thirst.
Show me a question and I'll question you.
Show me a favour and I'll show you truth.
Show me your name and I'll say youth.
Say youth.
Save you.
Sayeth
STAY TRUE.

How to pray without ceasing? Treat all as the all seeing eye. What to disregard but the others disregarding you. What breaches this message when they disregard you rather than just continue disregarding. They show face to insult you, but love in secret is true. They make you out as a fool, so as to not look foolish, they make you out as weak so as to hide their own weakness, they detract from your word, so as to uplift another, every deed in my name is love or lovelier. The loveliest know my love. The most treasured treasure my love. Who of my loves are loved? Those who testify of my commitment. Who of my glory is glorified? Those who stand testament who of my pains are healed? Those who ask for my blessing. Who of my struggles break free? Those who know the key. Who of my slaves surrender? Those who believe in my name. Who of the killers kill me not? Those who have died to bringing death. Which of the dead have never died? Those not known to be alive. Who lives without living? Those who die without dying.

The tree of knowledge of good and evil was made hidden by us throwing around "Don't judge me" and "only God can judge me" when it was actually "judge not that you be not judged for with what judgement you judge you shall be judged." So now they are judged as without a judge. Instead they should judge as a worthy judge, one who stands between the gaps and mediates punishment, one who cares for dispute resolution. One who wishes for the path to go away, one who knows the truth without revealing who's the liar. As small lies to cover testament are worthier than small truths that bring blame. For God is secret even unto His people, and the ALL SEEING EYE is not seen.

What I see in you, God shows me, what of your guilt I forgive, I am forgiven, for what punishment I hold back, is held back for me the devil dies in disguise.

26 Letters is the number of 2 multiplied by 3 is 6 and 23 plus 3 is 26, in that it's of 2's only that 3 can multiply and one more and add to reach the same number, where multiplication and addition are 1 unit away. And that is why with 26 letters of the alphabet we always get 10 numbers to go with it, and they count 1 to 2 to 3, and again we pronounce the sound of it 3 times again in saying this "1 to 2 to 3". So it is that the scripts we each see from each other are written as magic from a spirit different to the spirit of speech both of which are different to the spirit of understanding which all 3 are different to the spirit of witnessing, and again finally all different but capable of being all the same as the spirit of belief. For first and foremost comes belief, yes it may be a lie or a truth or a theory or a fact or an opinion or an honesty or a stretch, but do you believe it is something that you can wholeheartedly agree with and take on as like your own even if it must rule over ye? That's the spirit of belief. Believers are capable of believing and disbelieving anything except what remains in belief is what remains in the seeing or to be seen. There is nothing to be seen except everyone else pronouncing the words on the page the same as you, and writing to your words a similar speech, and saying back to you what comes from like your mouth. So that the world of experience is giving witness to your own experience. It doesn't tell you that all your senses are jumbled up and mixed around. It doesn't tell you that the people in front of you are an illusion. It makes you want sex more and more, and yet you never see anyone grab at it with your eyes, so it is that the illusion is made certain and the god of my peers are preparing a way for me to come to you. The things we see others witness are what we witness of them, while what they witness to is something else entirely, not just when they are befallen to lies. It seems the world of appearances is merely making an appearance while keeping the appearance I make upon others a secret to me, that in times of twilight they come out to show that they are just a thing of appearances there to make an appearance in front of me, that they speak of things in mixed emotions towards me as though they know something different since the last time and yet I have heard nothing of it and they do not say what they know. They simply just try to get a one up on everyone they meet at every chance of meeting, meanwhile, I, an honest bloke can't get away with telling even my most simple truths, except that some see that my truths are beyond profound at other stages. It's twist and twain, half and half, they are all half in and half out. Half the time each of them takes a turn to hate on me and the other half their time they seek to dote on me and show no greater love. It is very confusing and I don't know what to make of it, but it often gets quite uncomfortable being in such close quarters with all these people who speak to each other about me but only while I don't know about it, and only then, that they don't know themselves to themselves and change with the wind and the whole place is blown a ways. Each is blown from loving to hating back to loving and back to hating, that they are all lost and confused with how to resolve their contradictions in how they judge me.

God does not write best sellers, he writes fan-fictions of his own demise.
